WORLD'S GREATEST POLITICAL STRIKE IS NOW ASSURED

Organized Labor of Belgium Is Prepared to Make Sweeping Attempt to Secure Manhood Suffrage.

POPULACE IN TERROR; SHOPS TO BE CLOSED

Fearing Repetition of Acts of Mutiny, the Government Hesitates to Call Out Sections of the Militia.

Brussels, April 10.—All the hopes that the general strike for manhood suffrage would be averted have vanished one by one, and it now seems certain that the most sweeping attempt yet made in the world's history to apply the methods of organized labor for purely political ends will begin Monday.

The leaders in the movement display the utmost confidence and the strike fund now amounts to approximately $3,000,000 and fresh contributions from home and abroad are pouring in hourly. The Belgian cigar workers of Boston, Olneyville and Manchester, U. S. A., have sent $2,000.

Population Badly Scared.

The bulk of the conservative middle class population who have up to the present, because of the assurances of the government and clerical press that the strike was a bluff and bogey, regarded it with unconcern, are now beginning to be badly scared, and these fears are increased by forebodings of disorders and brigandage with which a certain section of the press is filled.

Many storekeepers, as a consequence, have announced that they would close their establishments and place their valuables in security. The rush to obtain stocks of provisions is increasing.

The socialists, however, laugh at these terrors. They profess to believe that the measures they have taken are fully adequate to prevent serious trouble. They urge prohibition of the sale of liquors and the closing of the saloons, and have themselves forbidden parades and meetings of their adherents.

The government, working in conjunction with the provincial and communal authorities, is putting the finishing touches on its measures to preserve order, but as yet hesitates to call out sections of the militia, not wishing too greatly to exaggerate the importance of the movement and also because it fears a repetition of the acts of mutiny which occurred after the last elections.

The strike committee has decided that the Ghent exposition shall be considered a neutral zone, and that workmen employed there shall be free to continue at their tasks if they so please. There has been a considerable exodus of workingmen and their families with their goods and chattels across the French frontier.

CHARGES OF PRETTY YOUNG SWEETHEART PUT RICE IN JAIL

Accused of stabbing his sweetheart, pretty 18-year-old Nellie Rice, in a fit of jealous anger, Charles Reese, a metal worker, aged 20, was locked up in police headquarters last night and will be arraigned before Recorder Broyles this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The wounded girl is said to have received a stab in the thigh. Her condition is not serious and she was not sent to a hospital. The affair occurred Wednesday afternoon on East Fair street, within only a short distance of Miss Rice's home at No. 164.

Bond of $275 has been asked for Reese. He made stout denial of the charges and declared that he had not even so much as struck the girl. He was unable to obtain bond and remained in prison all night. His home is at 77 Terry street, where he lives with his parents.

Miss Rice stated over the telephone to a Constitution reporter, however, that she had been stabbed by the youth, and that his attack was the resul of unmerited jealousy. They had quarreled for several weeks, she said, and were walking together to her home at the tim eof the alleged stabbing.

Reese's arrest was instigated by the girl's father, who came to police headquarters last night and demanded the young metal worker's imprisonment. Reese was located by Policemen Wood and Milam in the vicinity of police headquarters.

MOST everyone is a "doubting Thomas." Missouri seems to be the only State when it comes to buying. Yet when we're shown we become generous boosters.

The Constitution urges you for your own good to read carefully every ad in its columns every day. But don't stop there. Go on to the stores and buy.

Keep careful account of what you pay the merchants who advertise. Every now and then total up. You'll be surprised at the saving.

They can sell YOU better goods for less than the man who does not advertise because they sell more.

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president for several years past of the State College of Agriculture of Georgia, will in May become a citizen of the United States and of Georgia. He has been a resident in the States since May 8, 1894, nearly twenty years ago, and has been since soon after attaing his majority one of the most active factors in agricultural education in a number of the states of the south, and has done more perhaps than any other one man in the United States for the campaign for better farming, better training for the farms, but he has remained a subject of the King of England.

President of the State College of Agriculture, who is soon to renounce British citizenship to become a citizen of the United States.

His petition is filed in the federal court with Deputy Clerk Walter G. Cornett and will be heard at the approaching term of the court to be held by Judge W. T. Newman on the fourth Monday in May. He will, without doubt, be granted naturalization papers and become a citizen of the country to which he has contributed the best efforts of the past twenty years and in which he has proven to be a fatcor and a valuable asset.

Dr. Soule has been prominent in agricultural educational work in Virginia at the Blacksburg college, in Texas, and in Tennessee, where has was head of the agricultural department of the University of Tennessee. He has been head of the State College of Agriculture of Georgia for the past several years. He is a Canadian by birth.

AFTER LONG CHASE PARENTS DISCOVER RUNAWAY DAUGHTER

When mother and father turned detectives, a runaway daughter was apprehended in a downtown hotel last night after three months of relentless search over the entire south.

The truant girl has been detained at police headquarters. She is Miss Josie Litten, aged 22, a striking brunette, of Gastonia, S. C. Her parents, Mr. and rMs. J. M. Litten, who have been searching Atlanta for the missing girl during the past three days, will return with her some time this morning.

She mysteriously disappeared from home three months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Litten immediately set out in search, and since the time of the girl's runaway have covered almost every southern state. Thursday afternoon they caught sight of her walking through an uptown street. She was shadowed to a hotel at 83½ Peachtree street, and, while Mrs. Litten kept a watchful eye on the place's entrance, the father telephoned the detective department at police headquarters.

Detective Hamby carried her to police station, where she was placed in the matron's ward. She would give no explanation for her disappearance, and the father and mother are at an utter loss to solve it.

Mother Dead, Father Dying, Girl Is Alone in Atlanta, Far From All Her Friends

With her mother dead and her father at death's door, Miss Mabelle Decker, whose old home is in faraway England, is alone in Atlanta, where she has lived too short a while to have many friends.

Mrs. Margaret Decker, the mother of the young lady, died at a private sanitarium last evening at 6:30 o'clock, and in the same sanitarium the husband and father, R. P. Decker, is too ill to be told of his wife's death.

The family of three came to Atlanta from England less than a year ago and have been living at 126 Waverly way. Mr. Decker is a heating engineer by profession. Miss Decker has been helping to support the family by making salad dressings.

Arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Decker, who was 59 years of age, will be announced later.

POODLES COST $1,000; PRICE OF BABIES IS $2

Boston, April 10.—An active traffic in babies at prices ranging from $2 up is carried on in Boston, according to Mrs. Charlotte Smith, a social worker of that city, who appeared before the legislative committee on public health today in support of a bill requiring the registration of midwives.

Mrs. Smith declared that she had bought infants and knew where more could be purchased at any time.

"The idol of the home in the Back Bay," she said, "is a poodle dog. They run from $100 to $1,000, while babies are being sold at from $2 to $10, depending upon whether they are blondes or brunettes."

URGE FORMATION OF MARKET BUREAU

Committee of Agriculturists and Economists Will Ask Wilson to Lend His Support to Project.

Chicago, April 10.—A committee authorized today at the closing sessions of the conference on marketing and farm credits, will go to Washington in a few days and present to President Wilson conclusions of the five hundred scientific agriculturists, financiers and economists, who have met here for three days.

They will appeal for the establishment by the government of a bureau for thorough study of markets, crops and cost of transporting food stuffs. They will assert that the appropriation of $50,000 for such an organization, which now is pending, should be increased to $1,000,000.

Want Federal Loans.

They will ask for federal loans to farmers.

The chairman, Frank P. Holland, of Texas, also will name a committee in each state to place the matter before the state governments.

Arrangements were undertaken for a second national conference to open in Chicago April 14, 1914, and for an international conference at San Francisco in 1915.

The members who will go to Washington include T. D. Harmon, chairman, publisher, of Pittsburg; Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, of the University of Texas; John Sebastian, vice president of the Rock Island railroad, Chicago; E. W. Kirkpatrick, president of the Farmers' congress, McKinney, Texas; Dr. J. H. Connell, of the Oklahoma Agricultural college; Vance McCormick, Harrisburg, Pa.; M. P. Myers, publisher, of Chicago; Charles A. Shamel, publisher, Chicago; Clarence Poe, publisher, Raleigh, N. C.; Arthur Capper, of Topeka, Kan.; Lieutenant Governor S. R. McKelvie, of Nebraska; Edward Byrnes, publisher, Chicago.

To the president they will read the report of the committee on resolutions, which states, among other things:

Cost of Marketing.

"The cost of taking the products of the farm to the consumers is unnecessarily large and the methods employed are wasteful. Economical and efficient methods for the distribution of these farm products are of pre-eminent importance in reducing the cost and raising the standard of living. The government should establish an effective agency for the study of the problems of marketing and for the distribution of information as to conditions and needs and rational methods of meeting these needs.

"The state government, in similar manner should take up the study of more economic and efficient systems of marketing. The universities, agricultural colleges, newspapers and organizations for the promotion of economic welfare, both in the city and country, should give the question their immediate attention."

To Help Small Farmer.

It is the opinion of the conference that "the small farmer is at present unable to secure for sufficient time at a reasonable rate and under favorable conditions, the capital with which to purchase a farm, or to procure the equipment and material necessary.

It recommends that "national and state governments and other agencies mentioned should give immediate consideration to the provision of adequate means to which farmers may secure loans under favorable conditions.

"We favor organized co-operation both of consumers and producers under proper supervision to promote efficient distribution, economical marketing and reduce expenses between producers and consumers ;also organized co-operation properly supervised for securing more advantageous systems of rural credit.

"We urge the rapid extension and improvement of our parcel post as a potent factor in reducing the cost and facilitating the distribution of the products of the farm to the ultimate consumers.

Urge Currency Reform.

"We urge the nation-wide necessity of a general reform in our currency, banking and credit systems as the most important legislation to be undertaken by congress. Comprehended in this national plan must be facilities for securing the wide circulation of the notes of farmers, merchants, manufacturers and business men generally through proper discount and rediscount systems. We favor the enactment of both state and federal laws which will provide for the organization and proper supervision of co-operative credit associations for both farmers and wage-earners; also co-operative long-time land mortgage associations, as well as joint stock and long-time land mortgage banking."

Cost of Transportation.

The committee on distribution called attention to the fact that facilities for transportation never were better, yet it is costing more than ever before to get farm products to the consumer. It asserted every state college should have a market bureau, and that the subject should be emphasized at farmers' institutes. It recommends that secrecy be withdrawn from government crop reporting so that farmers may be furnished accurate data relative to the amount and source of the food supply, and also wherever the demand is and the amount required to satisfy that demand for each commodity.

"This is the only remedy for congested markets in one part of the country and a shortage in another at the same time," it concludes.

"This would also give the producer the necessary knowledge to market his goods with rational and business adjustment to supply and demand."

POSTMASTERS NAMED FOR FOURTH DISTRICT

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(Special)—Judge Adamson today nominated the following candidates for postmasters' places in the Fourth district:

West Point, Mrs. Mary L. Dixon, to succeed herself; Manchester, Miss Ada B. Winslow; Carrollton, Judge W. F. Brown; Woodbury, B. F. Baker.

WITH HER ARMS AROUND GLENN'S NECK, MRS. PIDCOCK SWEARS HER UNDYING LOVE

MRS. IONE PIDCOCK,
Who figured in dramatic scene at police station yesterday.

A sorrowful little woman with auburn hair and flushed cheeks waited eagerly in the ante-room of the prison at police headquarters yesterday afternoon. She was Mrs. Ione Pidcock, divorced wife of a millionaire railroad president and principal figure in the sensational elopement with Luther J. Glenn.

Glenn was being led from his cell in the prison. When he crossed the doorway of the ante-room Mrs. Pidcock threw her arms around his neck, weeping and kissing him hysterically. Glenn's arms closed around her shoulders in fond embrace. Policemen and turnkeys quickly ended the dramatic scene by drawing the couple apart.

The little woman wept without restraint. While Glenn was being handcuffed for the trip to the Tower, to which he was transferred at the order of Chief Beavers, she dropped into a chair, buried her face in her hands and moaned:

"They treat you unjustly, and they shouldn't do it. They're brutes!"

She accompanied the prisoner to the jail, sitting beside him in the automobile, and followed him to the door of the cell to which he was assigned. She remained with him for two hours, and was crying bitterly when she emerged to the street.

Going to Stick to Glenn.

To the reporters who were gathered at the jail, she declared:

"You can put this in your papers, and put it where the whole world can see it—I'm going to stick by Luther Glenn to the last dregs of the bitter end, and I don't care who knows it or what they think."

Mrs. Pidcock had slipped away from her father, Samuel D. Reid, to visit her imprisoned paramour. She had just returned from a trip to Lithonia, where she conferred with Glenn's parents. When she left the Tower she went directly to the offices of the prisoner's attorney, John W. Moore, and from there to her rooms in the Dakota hotel.

"I can't help Mr. Glenn financially," she told the reporters, "because I haven't got a dollar to my name—not a single one. And I haven't much influence here, but I can testify just as long as lawyers can ask questions, if not longer.

Will Leave Georgia.

"When this trouble is ended I'm going to leave Georgia, and never again put my foot on it. I'm going as far away as it is possible to get. That's the extent of my plans for the future. Beyond that I haven't made any, even for as early as tomorrow. I don't know what I'll do.

"I won't say whether I'll leave the state with Glenn or go alone, and you needn't ask that question. I want to get away and forget it all—and I guess he does, too. If I wanted to go with him, though, I could, because there is no legal binding between me and C. W. Pidcock. We are just the same as though we had never been man and wife."

While Mrs. Pidcock talked with a reporter at the door of Glenn's cell, she bravely declared her allegiance to him. "He's too good to be treated in this manner," she exclaimed in his presence, "and there's nothing in my power that I won't do to get him out." While they talked such enduring terms as "sweetheart," "dear" and "girlie" were used frequently.

Mrs. Glenn Won't See Husband.

Police headquarters also had another visitor in connection with the Glenn case Thursday afternoon. She was Mrs. L. J. Glenn, wife of the prisoner, who came down with a friend in response to summons from the prisoner. She would not go into his presence, but sent her escort instead. She stood in the desk sergeant's office, where her pretty looks and stylish clothing made her the cynosure of hundreds of curious eyes.

"I won't go back and see him," she declared. "I'm afraid to. That man holds some uncanny power over me that I fear I couldn't resist. I'll never talk with him unless it's in the presence of my attorneys.

"He has treated me shamefully. He deserves punishment, and that's what he's going to get. He's a rascal, through and through, and nothing's too good for him. It has driven me almost to desperation. I'm frazzled out and sick, so sick that I feel like I can hardly hold out."

It was rumored that Glenn had sent for his wife to come to him for a conference about the possession of their three children. Neither would deny or affirm the report, nor would Glenn deny or admit that he had sent for her.

Mrs. Glenn is stopping at 107 Piedmont avenue.

MRS. GLENN TRYING TO KEEP HER HUSBAND IN ATLANTA

In an amendment to her divorce suit, Mrs. Effie L. Glenn secured from Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court, a writ of ne exeat against her husband, Luther J. Glenn, by which the sheriff is required to hold him under arrest in lieu of $1,000 bond for his appearance to answer any judgment or order of the court. The order was secured yesterday afternoon by Attorneys Hewlett and Dennis.

Mrs. Glenn states that her husband is able to earn $150 per month, while she is not able to support herself and two minor children, Malvin, aged three years, and Harold, aged 11 months.

The petition is for divorce and temporary and permanent allmony, attorneys' fees and costs of court. Judge Bell ordered that Glenn show cause on April 21, in superior court, why he should not be ordered to pay temporary allmony and attorneys' fees.

The suit states that Glenn has been brought back from Texas, and is now in the county jail, and declares that Mrs. Ione Pidcock is making efforts to get him liberated, and that Mrs. Glenn believes that the intention of Glenn and Mrs. Pidcock is to leave the state again.

In brief, the suit states that Glenn attached himself to Mrs. Pidcock and traveled with her in Panama and Texas, and that he did this after threats, and his wife fears that should he get out of jail he would leave again. The suit also states that Glenn has declared openly that he intends to return to Mrs. Pidcock as soon as he is able to do so.

DISAPPEARS IN LONDON

Scotland Yard Sleuths Search for Man From Memphis.

London, April 11.—Scotland Yard is making inquiries concerning the mysterious disappearance of Joseph W. Martin, of Memphis, Tenn. According to the Daily Express he had booked return passage on the liner Lawrence, which, however, sailed on Saturday without him.

Mr. Martin was last seen, so far as is at present known, outside the Royal Automobile club late Thursday night, last, when he promised to dine the next night with friends, Captain Prior, of the Cavalry club, and a London merchant, Lockhart Anderson, at whose apartment in Park Place, St. James street, he had been staying, and where his baggage still lies ready packed for sailing.

Mr. Martin was then in evening clothes, and mentioned an appointment with a woman friend, but he never returned to the flat, and has not been seen since. It is believed he has a large sum of money on his person.

MACON WANTS DEAD COW

Test of New Incinerator Held Up; Waiting for Subject.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The official test of Macon's new incinerator to determine whether or not it is odorless, is being held up because it has been impossible to find a dead animal to use in the test.

A great deal of trash has been burned and the new plant works fine, but the acceptance depends on the ability of the plant to consume dead animals and not leave an unpleasant odor. The company building the incinerator makes that claim for it, but will be unable to prove it until some horse or cow departs for the beyond.

GOVERNOR PUTS BOARD ON RACK

Investigation Results From the Report That a Long Term Contract Would Be Let.

The members of the state board of education were "polled" at a meeting yesterday morning by Governor Joseph M. Brown to refute what he denounced as an unfounded and untruthful published report in regard to the contract for the schoolbooks for next session. What the governor had to say and the unhesitating replies that came from the other members caused something of a sensational turn to the session of the board.

No One Had Heard of It.

The members of the board, one at a time, stated emphatically that he had never heard of or been spoken to about any contract for the schoolbooks, and that the statement that the board had any intention to let a five-year contract for books was utterly without foundation.

A report had been circulated to the effect that the state board of educaton was contemplating letting at Thursday's meeting a five-year schoolbook contract.

There were present T. J. Woofter, of Clarke county; Walter E. Steed, of Taylor county; A. H. Moon, of Appling county; J. R. Glenn, of Lumpkin county; Governor Brown and Superintendent M. L. Brittain, ex-officio.

Governor Brown asked each commissioner the question:

"Did you ever hear anything about any five-year or any other contract to be let at this meeting for schoolbooks?"

And the reply in each instance was: "No, I have not."

What the Governor Said.

Governor Brown stated that he himself had not thought of such a thing as he would be out of office, and no longer a member of the board, when the contract was let for books next fall. As the board has until next fall before any new books are bought, there was no reason for the matter being brought up at this time. When the contract is let it will be after bids have been asked for from all publishers wishing to bid.

After the meeting, Superintendent Brittain said:

"With reference to several publications and reports recently printed, I wish to state that not only was nothing done about adopting state schoolbooks, but the subject would not have been mentioned if Governor Brown had not asked if any member of the board knew anything of a plan to adopt schoolbooks at this time."

Those who have read the report about a contemplated premature five-year contract are probably recalling the little history concerning the appointment of the present members of the board. Just before Governor Hoke Smith retired he nominated the four members ad interim and the senate failed to confirm. When Governor Brown came into office he nominated the four members who now serve and they failed to be confirmed owing to a rush of business at the close of the session of the senate, and also because, it is said, of some dilatory tactics on the part of those who wanted the Smith nominations confirmed. The nominees of Governor Brown will be confirmed when the senate convenes in June.

HEARST ENTERS SUIT FOR $26,000 AGAINST F. L. SEELY

Greensboro, N. C., April 10.—William Randolph Hearst, owner of the New York American, the Atlanta Georgian and a string of newspapers over the country, has started a suit for $26,000 here in the United States court for the Western district of North Carolina against F. L. Seely, former owner and publisher of the Atlanta Georgian. The summons was filed with Clerk Milliken today, and the complaint will be made in a few days.

The action grows out of the sale of the Atlanta Georgian to Hearst by Seely, who was then owner.

Mr. Seely is residing in this state at the present time, having his home in Asheville.

DR. FRIEDMANN TO SPEAK BEFORE GRIDIRON CLUB

Providence, R. I., April 10.—Dr. Friederich F. Friedmann received an invitation today to speak at the Gridiron club banquet at Washington Saturday night and said that he would accept, if possible.

The physician denied that he made any contract as alleged with Dr. Albert Von Hoffman, of St. Louis, for the disposition of his tuberculosis vaccine.

Dr. F. F. Friedmann will instruct four Rhode Island doctors tomorrow in the use of the vaccine which he claims can cure tuberculosis. These will be the first physicians in this country to be told how to administer it.

A large number of patients were treated by Dr. Friedmann today. Among them was Miss Sophie Berger, who was given a treatment in New York. Then she walked on crutches; today she was able to walk without assistance. Two of the patients paid Dr. Friedmann today for his treatment, but the doctor paid the return carfare of a patient who did not have money enough to go home

20 KILLED IN WRECK ON MEXICAN CENTRAL

Mexico City, April 10.—Twenty passengers were killed and forty injured in a wreck today on the Mexican Central railroad near Tula, state of Hidalgo, because the engineer yielded to the importunities of the passengers.

The engineer, fearing to run into rebels, was moving cautiously. The passengers were similarly apprehensive, but believing that greater safety lay in greater speed, induced the conductor and engineer to consent to full steam. The train was ditched on a curve.

SENATE ACCEPTS WILSON'S VIEWS ON TARIFF BILL

Upper House Will Agree to Wool and Sugar Provisions but May Amend Some of the Other Schedules.

DEMOCRATIC FORCES BROUGHT INTO UNITY

Senate Democrats Do Not Propose to Block President by Making Any General Increase in Rates of Measure

Washington, April 10.—The senate's attitude toward President Wilson and the new tariff bill became fairly well defined today after another meeting of the democratic members of the finance committee. Briefly, the senate committee will agree to accept the view of the pesident and the house as to free wool and 1-cent sugar, with the free in three years attachment, but it will exercise its right to amend other schedules and provisions of the bill as it thinks best.

The conference with the president yesterday brought a working agreement, under which both the executive and the senate leaders have yielded certain points. The senate dmocrats do not propose to make any general increase in the rates of the tariff bill or to make the senate liable to the charge of having impeded the efforts of the president and the house toward tariff reform.

To Make Many Changes.

Changes will be made in many schedules, however, the work having been started today, with a consideration of the first schedule in the bill. Some of the changes regarded as necessary by the senate leaders may be carried over to the house and put into the bill in the democratic caucus still in progress there.

The senate leaders reserve the right to make changes after the bill reaches the senate where they consider them necessary to make the tariff revision more equitable and scientific. The decision to stand with the president upon the wool and sugar tariff issues has brought the various forces of democratic control into practical unity, it is claimed. Should the president and the house majority refuse to accept any change in the wool and sugar schedule it is understood the senate committee will lend its support to the same program.

Wool Fight Acute.

The fight against free wool, however, has become more acute at both ends of the capitol; and several state delegations in the house are appealing to democratic senators for support in the fight to retain some duty.

The democratic caucus of the house had reached only the third schedule of the new bill at the end of today's work. Representative Underwood and the other democratic tariff leaders were making no apparent effort to limit debate or hasten a party decision on the bill. This deliberate pfrogress has raised the hopes of the wool and sugar interests that they may be able to organize sufficient strength to change the bill in the caucus, so that it will pass the house with at least a small duty on wool and without the provision to make sugar free in 1916. This opinion is strengthened by the attitude of the senate democrats. Many of them who favor at least a small wool and sugar tariff are lending their influence to the fight in the house in the hope that the issue can be fought out there, and will not have to be settled in the senate.

Representative Underwood and his assistants of the ways and means committee succeeded in piloting the tariff bill through another day's debate in the house caucus without any change in its rates. Many phases of the tariff were gone into, with demands for changes in duties coming from many quarters.

Pottery Schedule Approved.

The greater part of the day was devoted to work on the earthenware schedule, which was finally approved after a plea from Speaker Clark and

C. F. von MERRMANN,
Section Director.

Representative Underwood for party harmony.

The schedule evoked a lively expression of views. The present tariff is 60 per cent on most of the pottery and 25 per cent on cheaper classes.

The democratic revision would reduce the 60 per cent pottery to 35 and 40 per cent, and the 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

Representative Whitacre, from the East Liverpool, Orio, district, pleaded for retention of the present tariff and declared that on an investment of $60,000,000 American pottery interests profited barely 6 per cent last year. When the metal schedule was taken up Representative Webb, of North Carolina, and others tried hard to get a reduction of the proposed rate on card clothing, a material used on the machines of textile manufacturers. The present law taxes card clothing 55 per cent, and the pending bill would make it 40 per cent. Representative Underwood said tonight he thought the caucus would be almost through with the bill by Saturday night and that he expected that from the harmonious proceedings of the caucus that the house would pass the bill before the first of May.

Representative Broussard will present an amendment when the sugar schedule is taken up tomorrow and it is said that four other Louisiana representatives are counted upon to vote with him against the bill, if it comes up in the house with anything like the present reduction on sugar.

The caucus adjourned shortly after 6 o'clock until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

WILSON FOR MARBURY IN THE MARYLAND FIGHT

Washington, April 10.—President Wilson told Representative Konig, of Maryland, today that he would appoint Sherlock Swan postmaster at Baltimore. Mr. Konig presented the name of Colonel Rawlins, who also had the support of Senator John W. Smith. White house callers interpreted the president's statement as an indication of recognition of the Marbury faction in the Maryland senatorial fight.

KIDNEY REMEDY THAT ACTS LIKE MAGIC

I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constitution entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy, but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial, which acted like magic, and am happy to say that I believe I am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.

I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble. Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.

Yours very truly,

HARD FIGHT MADE TO SAVE LEVEES

Flood Situation in Memphis District Critical but Engineers Hope That Embankment Will Stand.

Memphis, Tenn., April 10.—Optimism marked the expressions tonight of those in chaarge of the battle to hold the levees in the central section of the Mississippi valley against the mighty flood swollen river. Conditions, while still grave, were generally hopeful. Two gaps in the levee near Wilson, Ark., are serving as outlets for a great volume of water, relieving the strain on the embankments south of that point, and a day of sunshine has had its effect on the dikes and the spirits of the flood fighters. North of Wilson, at Osceola, Luxora and Barfield, the situation is still critical, although not so desperate as last night. South of Memphis, preparations are being made for a hard fight near Helena, and the levees just north of the Beulah, Miss., crevasse of last February has shown signs of weakening.

River Falls 1.2 Feet.

At Memphis the river fell one foot and two-tenths today, standing tonight at the high stage of last year—45.3 feet. Mound City, north of Memphis, which was in danger of collapse last night, reported approximately the same fall.

The two breaks near Wilson, one at the upper end of Golden lake and the other at the lower end near the village of Randomshot, occurred last night, the first about 6 o'clock and the second at midnight. The result will be a more rapid spread of the overflow over a somewhat greater area. Wilson, a town of 250 persons, is flooded to a depth of about 3 feet. No loss of life has been reported.

The Randomshot crevasse is along the same stretch of levees that gave way during the flood of 1903.

Near Beulah, an old levee, over which railroad tracks had been built to convey material used in closing the break caused by the early spring flood, settled several feet for a distance of about 50 yards. The tracks have been torn up and large forces are engaged in bolstering up the embankment.

To Issue Levee Bonds.

The Mississippi levee commission met at Greenville today and authorized the issuance of $150,000 bonds as an emergency fund to be used during the high water fight. Chief Engineer Shackelford assured the commission that the levees in that district would be brought to a height 2 feet above the high stages of last year within a few days.

An Osceola dispatch describes the storm of last night as the most severe of years at that point. The levee workers were driven from the banks by the washing of water over the dike, and at Barfield the waves carried large timbers over the embankment.

Relief expeditions began the exploration of the flooded territory about Wilson today. A number of refugees were taken to Blythville, and from the territory overflowed by the Graves bayou break, below Memphis, 250 were brought to this city tonight aboard the government steamer Wynaoke. At Camp Crump here, about 1,500 persons are being sheltered.

The recession of the river today brought corresponding relief to the flooded section of the north side of Memphis.

SHERIFF OF PUTNAM DIES IN 70TH YEAR

Eatonton, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—After an illness of several weeks, Captain Seaborn R. Lawrence died at his home Tuesday night. He was 70 years old and had served as sheriff of Putnam for many years and held the office at the time of his death. He did active service during the war and was a member of Camp R. T. Davis, of this county.

The deceased is survived by three sons, Lucina Lawrence, of Milledgeville; Sparks Lawrence, of Eatonton, and Jasper Lawrence, of Asheville, N. C.; three daughters, Mrs. Nathaniel Rainey, Miss Bessie Lawrence and Miss Sara Lawrence, all of Eatonton, and a step-daughter, Miss Alma King.

The funeral services were conducted from the home and he was buried with Masonic honors. The interment was in Pine Grove.

GEN. OJEDA CONTINUES TO DEFY THE REBELS

"I Will Cut Off My Head With My Sword Before Surrendering," He Declares.

Naco, April 10.—"I will cut off my head with my sword before surrendering or crossing to the United States."

This was the statement of General Ojeda today. With his ranks depleted by killed and wounded, he continued defiance of assaults from nearly 2,000 state troops besieging the Mexican border town of Naco, opposite here. There was no fighting during the night or early today, the state troops remaining at some distance. It was reported that last night large quantities of ammunition were received by the rebels. The constitutionalist wounded have been take nto Cananea. No figures have been furnished of the assailants' losses.

"I have more than 400 men fit for duty," said General Ojeda. He stated that of an original 500 which exceeds previous estimates, 22 were killed, 50 wounded and 10 captured by American soldiers.

2,200 "HELLO" GIRLS DECIDE NOT TO STRIKE

Boston, April 10.—A strike of the 2,200 telephone operators in the fifty-four exchanges of Greater Boston, which has been threatened for the past few days, was averted by a compromise agreement reached today.

Instead of the weekly wage increases averaging $1 each which the union demanded, the agreement provides for the establishment by the company of a plan of anniversary payments. These payments are to be $25 at the end of the second year, $50 annually from the end of the third to end of the ninth year, and $100 at the end of each succeeding year.

The so-called "split trick," abolition of which was demanded, will not be compulsory upon any operator after eighteen months' service. The lunch period will be lengthened and the girls "will have the maximum number of holidays and afternoons off consistent with service requirements."

These concessions are effective June 1.

The agreement also provides for the creation of an adjustment committee to consider all grievances.

"We have won," the operators declared at the conclusion of the conferences and they were not contradicted by company officials, who said merely:

"The adjustment seems mutually satisfactory."

Huckaby Corrects Error.—J. A. Huckaby, attached to the James R. Gray home, at Buckhead, desires it stated that his action was misjudged when he spoke to Earl H. Dell, driver of the automobile which killed the Carey child at Buckhead recently. Huckaby denies the report that he stepped in front of Dell's car and ordered him not to move from the scene. He says he merely asked if Dell intended remaining at the spot until the arrival of medical aid.

NEW CURRENCY BILLS INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

Three Measures Are Without Indorsement of Financial Committees or of President.

Washington, April 10.—New currency reform bills were introduced in the house today by Representatives Prouty, of Iowa; Nelson, of Wisconsin, and Palmer, of Pennsylvania. Congress now has nearly a dozen bills, covering all branches of banking and currency reform, but none of which bear the indorsement of the financial committees of the two houses, or of President Wilson.

Representative Carter Glass, who probably will introduce the measure about which money reform debate will center in the house, conferred today with Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury, who has been gathering information from banks upon certain phases of the financial situation. Mr. Glass said at the end of the conference that there will be no difference of opinion between himself and the secretary of the treasury over the bill that he will introduce.

An effort will be made in the senate to have further hearings, particularly on the subject of money stringency at crop-moving times and the "sectional demands" for money. Senator Hitchcock, a member of the banking and currency committee of the senate, said today he would ask for hearings at which more detailed facts could be obtained, as to local demands for money and local problems that should be considered when congress finally takes up the work of reforming currency methods.

Of the bills introduced today, that of Representative Nelson proposes a national currency board of seven members with power to issue treasury notes through local "associations of reserve and discount."

That of Representative Prouty would create a new emergency currency, similar to that created by the Aldrich-Vreeland law now in force, but which would be much more accessible for banks. Under this measure the emergency notes, in amount equal to forty per cent of a bank's capital and surplus, could be stored in the bank's vaults and put into circulation with consent of the comptroller of the currency.

Representative Palmer's bill and one introduced earlier in the week by Senator Hoke Smith would give banks the right to loan money upon real estate mortgages and conveyances. A general banking bill has also been introduced by Representative Levy, of New York. The house banking and currency committee will not be organized until the tariff legislation has been disposed of. Senator Owen probably will call a meeting of the senate committee soon and outline plans for the currency reform work to be considered in the present session of congress.

FLOOD PROTECTION URGED BY CONGRESS

Delegates to Drainage Convention Want Government to Adopt Board Policy.

St. Louis, April 10.—The National Drainage congress, in session here today, had for its chief work the preparation of a bill to be introduced into the national congress, providing for a comprehensive plan for drainage and flood protection.

One faction of the congress will urge legislation for the appointment of a national drainage commission, which shall center its efforts on the reclamation of 75,000,000 acres of swamp and overflow land in the United States, the protection of the public health by the drainage of swamps and the prevention of floods by an adequate system of levees and storage reservoirs.

When the congress was called to order the executive committee was not ready to submit its report as to what legislation should be urged on the federal congress, and the threatened clash between those who favored the creation of a cabinet department of public improvements and those who favored merely a national commission to supervise all levee and drainage work was averted for the time being.

Telegrams from public men and prominent engineers included one from Senator Joseph E. Russell, of Louisiana, urging the congress to indorse his bill for an annual federal appropriation of $12,000,000 for five years for levee construction, bank revetment and navigation improvement of the Mississippi river below Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The telegram said that if local communities and the Mississippi river states do their share, such an appropriation would make $57,000,000 available for levee construction along the Mississippi river.

Senator Newlands asked that the drainage congress adopt a resolution indorsing a broad policy for the treatment of the rivers. This policy, he said, should provide for the storage of snows and excessive rains for scientific soil culture and forestation and levee building.

"All should work together," said the senator, "for a policy big enough to meet the situation as emphasized by recent disastrous floods and for the development of waterways."

A telegram from President Wilson, regretting his inability to attend the congress, was read. The telegram continued:

"The calamity in Ohio and Indiana makes clearer than ever before the imperative and immediate necessity for a comprehensive and systematic plan for drainage and flood control. I very earnestly hope that your deliberations may mark a long step forward in this direction."

"HUNGER STRIKE" TELLS ON MRS. PANKHURST

London, April 10.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is showing the effects of her seven days' "hunger strike," but no attempt has been made by the prison authorities to feed her forcibly. It seems likely that she will be released tomorrow. She will thus be too late to enable her to fulfill her promise to attend the suffragette meeting at Albert hall tonight.

Annie Bell, a suffragette sentinel, who was arrested outside Holloway jail last night, told the magistrate when she was arraigned at the police court today:

"If any man had interfered with me I would have shot him."

Miss Bell said that she carried a revolver only for self-protection.

WILL GUGLE TRIES TO SELL GLASSES OF DYING MOTHER

Savannah, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Because his mother had been pronounced near death's door and had no further need of a pair of eye-glasses, was William Gugle's defense when accused in police court today of loitering and trying to sell his mother's spectacles. Gugle is a well-known young man.

Gugle was trying to sell a pair of glasses belonging to his mother at the time of his arrest. Gugle's defense on this charge was unique. He said that his mother had just come from a hospital, and the doctor pronounced her dying with a cancer. He said the doctors stated that his mother could not live long, and this being the case, he reasoned that her eye-glasses would be of no service to her, so he took them to raise a little money on. His sentence was sixty days on the Browr farm.

GAG ORDER OF M'ADOO GREATLY EXTENDED

Secretary Forbids Any Person in His Department to Give Out News.

Washington, April 10.—Secretary McAdoo's "gag order" has been extended from the assistant secretaries of the treasury, to whom it originally applied, to every bureau and division chief of that extensive department. Nothing whatever concerning government business there may become known until the secretary's office had passed upon the desirability of its publication.

Surgeon General Blue, of the public health service, is forbidden to give out any news whatsoever of the progress of the government's tests and investigation of Dr. F. F. Friedmann's tubercular vaccine; or to warn the public of danger of disease or of epidemics; the life-saving service is forbidden to make known news of a vessel in distress or of measures taken for the relief of an endangered crew. The revenue cutter service is forbidden to send public warnings of derelicts in the path of navigation or give the news of sending one of its ships to distressed vessel.

All such information now is sent first to the assistant secretary in charge of the division or bureau in which it originates, and then to Secretary McAdoo's office, where it is made public or suppressed.

The treasury is the only department of the government in Washington where a "gag order" has been issued. Secretary McAdoo's new policy is a complete reversal of that of former Secretary MacVeagh, who instructed his subordinates to give out news of the public business with accuracy and dispatch except where it would defeat the ends of justice or in the case of determination of important policies.

Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury, late today practically removed his previous order by which subordinates were forbidden to give out news, except through the secretary's office. The secretary issued the following amendatory instructions to his assistants:

"The secretary's memorandum with reference to the giving out of news was not intended to prevent the publication of routine matters of legitimate interest to the public. Heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions may give to representatives of the press any ordinary news, but matters involving questions of policy or reform in the department should be submitted to the secretary for his approval."

HER NERVOUS SYSTEM COMPLETELY BROKEN

London, April 10.—Dr. Mansell-Moullin declared today in discussing the health of Miss Zelie Emerson, the American suffragette, that her nervous system is completely shattered.

'She is almost unable to sleep," he said, "and even when she is sleeping she does not rest owing to horrible dreams. Her digestive system has been seriously impaired, and she suffers great pain above the appendix. I do not care to say more about this feature of the case."

NINE INDICTMENTS ARE FACED BY OAKLEY

Montgomery, Ala., April 10.—Nine indictments charging embezzlement of state funds have been returned by the Montgomery county grand jury against James C. Oakley, former president of the Alabama convict board whose arrest occurred a few days after Theodore Lacey, chief clerk of the convict department, disappeared with $90,000 of convict funds on his person. Oakley was arrested this moring and has furnished an aggregate bond of $57,000. He will be tried at the July term of the criminal court.

SPEEDY RECOVERY OF POPE ASSURED

Pontiff's Strength Is Beginning to Return and He Is Again Cheerful—No Sign of Fever.

Rome, April 10.—The change for the better in the condition of Pope Pius X was absolutely certain today and the amelioration is so marked tonight that if no complications intervene his speedy recovery to normal health seems practically assured.

There was a complete absence of fever today and signs that the pope's strength is beginning to return and the reappearance of cheerfulness in the patient are indications that the relapse from influenza which the pope suffered April 8 has been mastered.

The pontiff again was able to hear mass this morning and to take communion. He even sat up in bed while hearing a report from the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry Del Val.

His holiness also granted a longer conversation than usual to his sisters and niece, who showed unmistakable signs of relief at the apparent improvement in the pope's health.

Speaking to the Associated Press after visting their brother the pope's sisters said:

"Now we breathe again. What we have suffered these last few days is terrible. When he is ill we feel as though we were dying. When he is well we are in a seventh heaven. We live in his life."

Professor Marchiafava made the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The pope is much better. If there are no complications he will have entirely recovered in a few days. The pope's constitution is robust and he has never wasted his strength. The heart and other organs have done their duty and are performing their functions normally.

"The pontiff has completely recovered from the original attack of influenza; even convalescence was over and perhaps the relapse was due to the repeated changes in the temperature these last days, during which the pope gave several audiences.

"The present illness from which the pope is suffering is merely a recurrence of the disease. The new complication has supervened and no alarming symptom has been present. Certain symptoms, however, which remain and which we must eliminate are incident to influenza and the age of the patient.

"The holy father has always been energetic and a hard worker and suffers when under restraint in bed, but we hope that all symptoms of his present trouble will soon disappear and that he will regain his customary vigor and charming good humor. Probably, if the advise of the medical attendants is followed, as I am sure will be the case, the attack wil not leave any ill effects or cause any change in his mode of life."

THEY TELL OF WEDDING WHEN BRIDAL TOUR ENDS

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Not until Mr. and Mrs. Wright King returned from a wedding trip to Chattanooga did their friends in Rome know of the wedding, which occurred last Sunday in Rome, and was witnessed by only two people besides the minister.

Mrs. King was Miss Marion Harrison, of this place, and both she and her husband have a host of friends who are extending congratulations. The groom's sister, Miss Missie King, and his cousin, Graham Wright, witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Dr. R. B. Headden.

You may smile a little when we mention $25 as the price of a good suit; a lot of men think they wouldn't wear a $25 suit; the price seems absurdly low; you're used to $40, $50, $60; you're inclined to "turn your nose up" at ready clothes at $25.

Every time you do that you turn your pocketbook down. You may be able to afford to spend whatever you please for clothes; but it isn't good business to pay $40 or $50 for a suit made to measure when you can buy as good a suit for $25 or $30.

It's wise to pay all you can afford if you are sure of values; the better the garment the more satisfaction for you.

Dont buy clothes that way. Look at our suits at $25, anyway. Our mark in them is a small thing to look for, a big thing to find.

MYSTERY DEEPENS IN WORTH MURDER

Short's Brother-in-Law Is Held as Accessory to the Killing of Douglas Bass.

Sylvester, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) Linwood Lundy, brother of the wife of Alva F. Short, who late Wednesday night shot and killed Douglas Bass, was placed under arrest here today and held as an accessory to the murder which has stirred Worth county and created intense feeling. Neither Lundy nor Short has made a statement in regard to the killing and the entire matter is beclouded, but there is a general feeling that the unwritten law will be brought up as the defense when the case goes before a jury.

The families both of Short and of Bass have wide connections in the surrounding country and intense feeling has been stirred in regard to the homicide. The excitement is so great that further trouble from both sides is feared by many citizens of Worth.

Short has been held in jail since his arrest directly after the shooting. Bass lived but a few minutes after he was struck by the bullet.

The trustees will meet Saturday and elect officers.

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO CONTINUE PROBES

Washington, April 10.—Three congressional investigations were proposed today in the house.

Representative Clark, of Florida, asked for the appointment of a special committee to probe various special commissions and make recommendations to abolish them.

Representative Austin proposed an investigation of the stemming district tobacco associations with headquarters at Henderson, Ky., as an "alleged illegal combination in restraint of trade."

Representative Lobeck asked for an investigation of the "extortionate prices the government is compelled to pay for elevators in the various government buildings."

THIRTEEN GRIFFIN GHOULS STAND UP TO EAT; THEY ARE AGAIN SUPERSTITIOUS ABOUT GRAVES

Justice Mills decided that a thrashing should be the sentence for these pickaninnies, who desecrated the graves of the Anderson children. The punishment has been administered, and the culprits declare they will never enter another vault in search of valuables.

Griffin, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The Griffin ghouls are now standing up to take their meals.

Deciding that the thirteen pickaninnies who, led by malicious mischief, opened the graves of the Anderson children and stirred the entire town to feelings of horror and desire for punishment were too young to receive legal penalties, Justice of the Peace Mills ordered today that each one of the unlucky thirteen should receive a sound caning from their parents.

When the decision was announced there was a joint sigh of relief from the throats of twenty-six grown negroes who, in fearsome awe, had wondered what the court would mete out to their boys, and immediately following the sentence thirteen fathers promised that such a thrashing as had never before been administered would be dealt out to the young blacks.

"Give them a good licking," counseled the judge with a frown at the lads. "I will appoint two of the baillifs to see that justice is done, but not carried too far."

The parents agreed to this, and, while the affair was not a public one, there were enough witnesses to attest that certain little darkies will be mighty superstitious about graves and things in the future.

It has developed that the young negroes who committed the act of vandalism were members of an organization known as the "Smart Set," and that they had hoped to get valuables from the graves.

The entire town has been stirred since it was found that the graves of the long-buried children had been desecrated, and feeling is somewhat relieved now that it is known that it was only the work of children.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET AT ELBERTON, APRIL 22

Elberton, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The Interdenominational Sunday School convention of Georgia will hold its annual meeting here April 22 to 24. At least 300 people are expected to be present from all parts of the state, but preparation is being made to entertain a greater number. The officers have used their best efforts to make this a most successful meeting.

Professor E. O. Excel, the great singer of Chicago, will have charge of the singing, and many speakers of note are on the program. The guests will be met at the depot on arrival and sent to their homes while here. The local committees are at work and will see that the guests are properly entertained. They desire that those who will attend will advise the chairman of the entertainment committee as early as possible.

This convention has grown from seventy-five to three hundred, and Mr. Sims, the state secretary, anticipates that this meeting will show a large increase. The meetings will be held in the First Methodist church.

COTTON SEED PROBE BEGINS AT AUGUSTA

Dr. F. H. Phillips and C. J. Clifford Among Nine Witnesses Before Federal Grand Jury.

Augusta, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—At 10 o'clock this morning the United States grand jury began the examination of witnesses in the investigation of an alleged combination on the part of the American Cotton Oil company to restrain trade and set prices on cotton seed products. Nine witnesses were examined today. While 142 have been subpoenaed, only about 50 have so far reported to the court.

Among those who testified Thursday were Dr. F. H. Phillips, of Harlem, Ga., a large planter and former president of the Harlem Cotton Seed Oil mill, and C. J. Clifford, of Grovetown, Ga., a cotton seed buyer for the Augusta oil mills. The session held today was to secure the testimony of witnesses who live in the threatened flood districts of Louisiana and Mississippi.

District Attorney Alexander Akerman is conducting the investigation. He is being assisted by the assistant attorney, Arthur H. Goddington, and a special representative of the department, Ralph H. Daughton. Witnesses from thirteen states, including North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana, will appear in this case.

CERTIFICATION RULES ADOPTED BY BOARD

The state board of education decided at a meeting yesterday upon rules and regulations governing the certification of teachers. The system adopted was prepared after much study and thought and will, it is believed, give high standing to the public schools of the state.

Some of the chief provisions are:

The primary license will be for the teachers doing work in the first four classes. A license of the first grade shall be valid for three years, of second grade for two years and of first grade for one year. There is a special examination for applicants for the general elementary license. Those teachers who attain first grade, either primary or general elementary, may renew their licenses on condition of three years' successful experience in teaching and completion of the reading course.

Professional examinations, professional license, professional elementary certificates and special certificates for teachers now in service are provided for.

WOODMEN PICK ATHENS AS NEXT MEETING PLACE

Thomasville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—That Athens will get the Head camp, Woodmen of the World, in 1915, was decided by a vote of the convention just before final adjournment this afternoon. The vote stood: Athens 122, Rome 112.

In the competitive drill by degree teams of Atlanta and Savannah last night, the Savannah team, under Captain C. W. Tanner, received the first prize of $100, and the Atlanta team, under Captain W. E. McDonald, the second prize of $50. Both teams did fine work. The contest was close, and announcement of the victor was not made until today.

In the Woodmen's circle, Mrs. Minnie Vann, Valdosta, was elected grand guardian.

Members are leaving on all outgoing trains tonight after what they report as one of the pleasantest meetings ever held.

TROLLEY LINE PLANNED FROM ROME TO GADSDEN

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The proposition to build an interurban electric railway from Gadsden to Rome via Center, Ala., and Cave Spring, will be discussed at a mass meeting to be held here on Wednesday, April 16, at which representatives of all the cities interested will be present.

The matter has been pushed by the commercial bodies of the several cities, and it is stated that eastern capital will be ready to take hold of the matter inasmuch as the proposed road will pass through a rich section of country, and through several important towns, among them Center, that are now without any railroad facilities.

SHRINERS THANK FELLOW CITIZENS FOR FINE RESPONSE

When the executive committee of the Shriners' entertainment fund campaign met in the offices of Forrest Adair Thursday afternoon to wind up the details of Wednesday's whirlwind campaign, which produced more than $75,000, it found little to do but congratulate itself and thank the people of Atlanta who had helped them in their stupendous undertaking.

The committee checked over the subscriptions and found every one of them to be as good as gold. The numbers of the committee had on hand about $300 or $400 more money which had come in from various sources during Thursday. The loose ends of the campaign were gathered together and the only thing the fund needs now is the Shriners to spend it. These, the local members feel confident will be forthcoming as soon as the imperial council meets in Dallas next month.

The executive committee drafted the following letter thanking the people of Atlanta for their donations to the fund:

To the Citizens of Atlanta: We wish to express the sincere appreciation of the Shriners of Atlanta for the very generous donations made by their fellow citizens yesterday.

We believe that their liberal subscriptions aggregating $75,000 will insure the Imperial Council meeting in this city in 1914; and the well-known hospitality of Atlanta, her social, civic and commercial advantages, can be relied upon to win the admiration of the more than twenty thousand visitors who will come here from all parts of North America and who are sure to return to their homes with a lasting impression of our city's wonderful progress in the past and the glorious possibilities of her future.

When it was decided to make the campaign in one day for the fund required, we realized that notwithstanding the efforts a large number of committees would make to present the matter in person throughout the city that necessarily a good many of our generous and public-spirited citizens who would have been glad to subscribe, could not be seen. We, therefore, wish to say that the larger the sum raised, the better Atlanta can entertain the convention; and if those who now feel inclined to subscribe will kindly send their subscriptions to Mr. J. C. Greenfield, secretary, Masonic Temple, they will be gratefully received and duly acknowledged.

We believe that the splendid response of the people of Atlanta yesterday could not have been equalled in any other city in the United States, and we confidently predict that the convention now assured for next year will justify their faith in the friendship of the Shriners of America and the value of their visit.

Yours gratefully,
FORREST ADAIR,

WRIGHT TAKES CASES TO THE SUPREME COURT

Appeals From Decision of Judge Newman That Two Roads Are Not Liable for Taxation.

Hon. William A. Wright, comptroller-general of the state of Georgia, has appealed to the United States supreme court, sitting at the national capital, from the decision of Judge Newman, of the federal district court for the northern district of Georgia, rendered April 1 last in which Judge Newman declared that the Augusta and Savannah railway and the Southwestern railway, under lease to the Central of Georgia Railway company, was not liable for taxation.

Thomas S. Felder, attorney general, Hon. John C. Hart, Mr. Felder's predecessor in office, and S. H. Sibley, one of the best and most widely known lawyers in the state, have lodged with Deputy Clerk John Dean Steward, of the federal court, the appeal papers.

The papers of file assert that Judge Newman, of the federal district court, erred thirteen times when he decreed that the Augusta and Savannah railway and the Southwestern, both under lease to the Central of Georgia railway, were not subject to taxation.

After reading the appeal papers, Judge Newman issued an order granting the petition for an appeal and declared "the claim of appeal was allowed."

NO GUMSHOE GOVERNMENT.

The very few but very timid Americans who affect to see in Mr. Wilson's personal visits to congress a "threat to popular government" are in reality barking up the wrong tree. As John Sharp Williams some time ago remarked drily in the senate, if we ever have a dictator he will be one of our own making and choice, since no man living is strong enough to foist himself upon the people unless they want him. The danger from that direction is negligible. The real menace is inefficient or extravagant governemnt due to the indifference of congress, to its tendency to place personal politics above patriotism or to dodge behind the convenient back of the executive and the tradition that separates that branch from the legislative.

Mr. Wilson's course has, thus far, made anything of that sort extremely difficult. The fierce white light of searching publicity is ever on a president. When he leaves the white house and negotiates with congress on its own hearthstone the searchlight follows him. Its rays bring out both the president and those with whom he confers in blazing relief. When half a hundred of the shrewdest reporters in the nation, some of them representatives of opposition sheets, are camping on the joint trails of the president and representatives and senators, concealment is one of the impossibilities. There can be no gumshoe government under these conditions. If congressmen hope to betray party pledges, as regards the tariff or other items, and "get away with it," they will have to employ strategy yet uninvented. Nor can they so readily jam through a disgraceful "pork" bill—as was done in such manner last session as almost to anger Taft into vetoing the measure—when a watchful president "sits in" at the game ready to apprise a credulous nation precisely how it is being gold-bricked! Come to analyze it, the old method of star-chamber conferences at the white house, and a beautiful, dignified aloofness on part of the president, offers more opportunities for mismanagement than any of the precedents so calmly disregarded by Wilson.

This is not to say that a president, like any other human being, may not eventually abuse this system and have to be checked. That particular bridge will be crossed when we get to it. Meanwhile, it is well to remember that if there is one influence the germs of either usurpation or inefficiency cannot survive, it is that of publicity. And it is more publicity the president is applying.

MORE AT HOME LIKE HER.

Americans may profitably cease whining over the increased cost of living long enough to consider how the wife of a carpenter in New York city a good deal more than solved the problem. The story is told in a recent dispatch. The wife died. The widower, who was employed in one of the big office buildings of the metropolis, discovered that he was suddenly made rich, comparatively of course, from the savings she had made out of his earnings. He is going to take a trip abroad, and then return home and live thenceforth a life of ease.

The secret? "I never dreamed of being rich," he said; "I always made a good living, but my wife, who was an educated woman with keen business sense, took care of my money." The humorists who are given to levity over the spectacle of the married woman ransacking her husband's pockets while he sleeps, please take notice!

There is no valid reason why the achievement of this woman could not be duplicated by thousands of families throughout the United States. In all sections of this country wages for skilled workers and for office help are relatively fair. It is easily possible by practicing economy, which should be distinguished from parsimony, to create and add to a nest-egg and build a wall between necessity and old age or illness.

Cheese-paring is not essential to this end. This carpenter did not even know that his wife was, to use the vernacular, "holding out on him." He must, therefore, have enjoyed the essential comforts of life, and the fact that she was an educated woman means they lived under decent conditions. They also raised and educated a medium-sized family of children.

So enormous is the wealth of this country and so great the stride forward of the standards of living, that Americans in many instances waste enough for the frugal continental to live on. We do not advocate the peasant-style of living. That is opposed to our sensible national traditions. What the nation does need to learn is the distinction between economical living, that provides comforts and pleasure and advantages as it goes along and yet which saves, and that extravagant notion which too often teaches that a ten-dollar raise in salary is the signal for a fifteen increase in family expenditures.

The one thing we regret, in the specific case, is that the thrifty wife kept her achievement hidden until the day of her death. The woman whose wise management saved a fortune for her husband fully deserved to share it with him.

PLAY BALL!

Baseball is with us again. It is the most democratic pastime in America; literally, it is the national game. Some of the captious cast their votes for poker. But that luxury appeals only to students of the occult, necessitating decrees from several universities and a cast-iron countenance proof against the slightest play of emotion. Baseball, on the other hand, is the joy alike of those who are purely intellectual, such as poker-maniacs, and of the hoi polloi, whatever that means; of the banker and the office boy; it makes no distinction of race, age, sex, color or previous condition of servitude.

Which is reminder that the game which can and does accomplish these wonders gets under full headway next Monday in Atlanta. The Southern league is offering a pennant for the city that rolls up the biggest attendance on opening day. Every city in the league is at work, so to speak, to win the distinction. Atlanta ought to carry off the honors, hands down. It already has the record for the largest attendance for the season. The laurels for opening day will easily be gleaned if business men generally declare a sort of half-holiday Monday—a diversion that will help all hands—and permit their employees to go to the game. The employees will do the rest.

Give the team a boost toward success. "Billy" Smith, thenceforward one of the most popular of our citizens, promises a red-hot battle for the season's pennant. Encouragement upon the opening day will go far toward putting fight and "ginger" into the aggregation sailing under Atlanta's colors.

SENATORS FROM THE PEOPLE.

With the ratification of the seventeenth constitutional amendment providing for direct election of United States senators—a reform for which the nation has long clamored, and for which Georgia's senatorial primary blazed the way—reaches fruition. Henceforth the men who sit in the upper branches will come straight from the people. Henceforth if one wants to discuss "tainted senators" it will be necessary to indict the people of an entire commonwealth instead of a powerful and possibly corrupt coterie of politicians.

The change, so far as average wisdom can now see, is a salutary one. Like all other political alterations of a fundamental nature the test of time must be required to prove it. The innovation is notable in that it is wholly in line with the prevalent effort to get government closer to the people, to approximate as nearly as possible under the constitution a pure democracy. The drift is a wholesome one, but it carries its responsibilities. The greater the power of the man with the ballot, the more circumspectly must he exercise that power both as to men and measures.

The Constitution does not now and never has taken stock in the bogie that under the terms of the new amendment congress might foist "force bills" on the south. Conceding, even, that the amendment gives it that authority, there is no disposition to exercise it. The nation is too near one in understanding, too mutally comprehensive of the negro problem, to fear that it would indorse any reversion of this nature.

Georgia is specially interested in the amendment in that, under its provisions, it may be necessary for Senator A. O. Bacon to again go before the people for election. His friends and the senator need not fear that test. His clean sweep at the primary and the affection and confidence in which he is held throughout the state assure that his appearance before the electorate will be simply in the nature of a perfunctory compliance.

Professor Taft says he knows but little law. Then there's no danger of the students being mystified.

A Morning Song.

Welcome to the morning! There's a dewdrop on a rose
And over beds of violets the wind of morning blows;
A bird is singing sweeter than I ever heard it sing,
And early bees are browsing where the honeysuckles swing.

Life's calling sweetly:
"Come out in the light;
Leave the land of worry—
Tell your grief goodnight!"

Welcome to the morning, with the bluest skies;
Love himself is dreaming in his sweetheart's eyes;
He listens and listens to hear the world's heart beat
And reads in all the lilies his litanies so sweet.

Life blithely calling:
"Joy is in sight;
Leave the land of worry—
Tell your grief goodnight!"

"So you have an accident to report, have you?" said the head clerk to the foreman of the works.

"Yes, sir," said the foreman, and, after gnawing at his penholder for a considerable time, he handed the clerk the report. It read:

"Date: Nov. 28. Nature of accident: Toe badly crushed. How caused: Accidental blow from fellow-workman's sledge hammer. Remarks:—"

"Very good," said the clerk. "But why have you omitted 'Remarks?'"

"Well, sir," said the foreman, who was a very frank man, "seeing as you know what Bill is, and as you know it is his big toe that was hurt, I—well, I didn't like to put 'em down."—Tit-Bits.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Charles P. Neill's nomination to the commissioner of labor in the department of labor is still pending before the senate.

Objection was raised to Mr. Neill's reappointment by Senators Overman and Tillman because of a report issued by the bureau of conditions among cotton mill operatives in the south.

John Corrigan, Jr.

This report was denounced about a year ago, or on February 26, 1912, by Senator Overman as untrue, as not representing real conditions, and being a reflection upon cotton mill operatives and mill owners.

While the southern senators may permit the nomination to come to a vote when the senate meets next week, they will record their votes against Mr. Neill.

Overman Objects to Comparison.

The report on southern cotton mill conditions likens the fare of the twenty-one mill operatives' families which were considered typical of their class to the fare served prisoners in the United States penitentiary at Atlanta.

"Southern mills bad as prisons," was the heading which the Washington Herald used over this report. This is not nearly so bad as it sounds, as visitors to the prison can testify, but the analogy was unfortunate. In fact, the dietary at the Federal prison corresponds as closely as possible in food values to the standard of the department of agriculture, as Mr. Neill showed in his reply to his critics. That is to say, it represented the minimum food standard for an adult male engaged in muscular work.

The diet of cotton mill families in the south and in Fall River, Mass., was compared to this standard, allowances being made for differences of age and sex in each family. Judged by this standard, the report says these families did not have an adequate amount of proper and nourishing food, despite their combined earnings.

These conclusions were denied by Senator Overman, who objected to the comparison. He also put into the Congressional Record the menus for a week at the Federal prison. This showed that the men are given meat once or twice a day, milk and bread and coffee, tomatoes and onions, two kinds of potatoes, collards, prunes, cracklin bread and pie in the course of a week.

Not a bad diet on which to live and work as many a workingman's family will testify. But the comparison was obnoxious to Mr. Overman.

Thinks Mill People Are Happy.

"Why this report should have compared these free born American citizens who work in the cotton mills with penitentiary convicts, I do not know," he said. "Such a comparison is odious and will enable some of these fanatical people to go up and down this country and charge that these cotton mill hands are treated like convicts. And without the full report and the truth, it would astonish and outrage the public."

"What is the government going to do about it?" he asked in conclusion. "Are you going to feed these people? Are you going to clothe them? Do you propose to give them better wages? I want the country to know that the North Carolina cotton mill operatives lives as well as any laboring people in the world. They are a happy people; they are a good people; they are American citizens, and speak the English language, and I object to their being slandered as they have been by this report of a great department of the government."

Popular Election of Senators.

When Connecticut ratified three days ago the proposed amendment to make senators elective by the people, it became a part of the federal constitution. Thirty-five states had already given it their approval. Only two states rejected the amendment—Delaware and Georgia.

In the case of Georgia, it will be recalled that the newspapers which so violently opposed Oscar Underwood, bitterly upbraided him for voting for this constitutional amendment as a member of the house. They raised an awful storm in Georgia over the horrors of any such legislation and declared that if Underwood had dared to vote for any such resolution as that when a candidate in Georgia, he would never have received the vote of the state.

The resolution, it will be recalled, passed the lower house of congress a short while after the Georgia primary instructed for Underwood.

Since it has been apparent, however, that the necessary number of states would vote for the resolution, the violent attitude of the former Georgia adversaries of the measure has quieted and in all probability some of the old brand of Georgia "reformers" will now be claiming they actually supported this most advanced step that has yet been taken in the trend toward progressive legislation, while the truth is "every mother's son of 'em" was red headed and red hot against the mere suggestion that the Georgia legislature ratify the proposed amendment. Their protest resulted in the tabling of the resolution to approve the amendment.

The Utah state senate has rejected the amendment, but the house has approved it.

The states which did not act on the amendment were: Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, Louisiana, Rhode Island, Virginia, Florida, Maryland and South Carolina.

Will Renew Wartime Acquaintance.

General Nathan Church, of the Twenty-sixth Michigan infantry, passed through Washington several days ago on his way to call on Colonel Joseph N. Brown, of Anderson, S. C., and renew an acquaintance first made at the Bloody Angle on the battlefield of Spottsylvania courthouse.

Colonel Church led his regiment on that battlefield and became known as the Federal hero of the engagement. He wants to renew acquaintance with Colonel Brown, who led the South Carolina brigade that opposed him. There will be no casualities at this meeting except the fatted calves and things that South Carolina used to furnish from the dispensary for the delectation of visitors.

General Church, who is now 73, and hale and hearty, was accompanied by his wife.

Making Farmers of the Indians.

Efforts to make good farmers of Indians so that they will become almost entirely self-supporting and cease to be a charge upon the federal government, are being undertaken by F. H. Abbott, the acting commissioner of Indian affairs.

As most of the Indians now own land, and as much of these tribal lands is capable of a high degree of cultivation, he thinks the salvation of the red man largely lies in the direction of making of him an efficient farmer and thus inculcating habits of industry.

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of LITERATURE

WHO WROTE THE "SATYRICON?"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Among classical forgeries—and there are many instances—the most noted is that of the famous "Satyricon," which has been ascribed to Petronius, the friend, the minister, and finally the victim of Nero. The first printed edition of this work appeared in Venice in 1499, and consisted only of thirty-eight pages. The world had to content itself with this sorry and almost sole remnant of Roman fiction for close to a century. But then came a find around which clings much mystery.

This find was made by Statileus. In a library said to belong to Nicholas Cippicus, at Trau, in Dalmatia, in a volume containing also manuscript copies of Catullus, Tibullus and Propertius, he found that additional episode in the Petronian story which is known as the "Supper of Trimalchio," and referred to by John of Salisbury.

Statileus brought the manuscript he had found to Lucius, of Trau, who urged him to print it just as it was "for the honor of the country." He could not be prevailed upon to do so, and when he left Trau in 1654 Lucius told certain learned men in Padua and Rome of the discovery and vainly exhorted Statileus and Cippicus to have it printed.

By this it would seem that this manuscript was found some time before 1654. This is a much earlier date than is usually supposed. It has proved that Statileus was at Padua between 1635 and 1645, so that he must have found the manuscript toward the latter end of that period, which would leave some twenty years between its discovery and its first printed appearance in 1664.

The license to publish the discovery is dated December 2, 1663, at Padua. In the year following it was published both at Padua and at Paris, the preface being prefixed to both editions. This preface gives the story of Statileus and of his taking counsel about it with the learned men of Venice and Holland, and more especially with John Rhodius, who died at Rome in 1659.

Statileus here takes the place subsequently claimed by Lucius himself in the matter of consulting the learned world. Statileus, after pressure from the Venetian ambassador at Rome, had readily agreed to send a copy of the manuscript to Rome for examination, after which Frambotti at Padua, having obtained it from Statileus, offered it the perusal of the public in the exact form in which he had received it from Statileus.

This edition, though it had been thus submitted to the approval of the learned, was full of the most astounding words and phrases. In March, 1665, the erudite Frenchman, Adrain de Valois, boldly declared that every page of it bore palpable marks of forgery and imposture. Such monstrous words abounded in it that if Petronius wrote it he must have been ignorant of Latin.

Genders, cases and declensions were all hopelessly wrong and the incidents of the feast clashed at many points with Roman customs. It was to be rejected as wholly ridiculous, said the French scholar. It was a strong case that he made. He was supported by a young critic, a German called Wagensell, who unhesitatingly pronounced it a forgery. Many of its words were more than barbarous, they were not even human. The work was clearly a very recent abortion by some miserable man.

A vigorous reply to these critics appeared in the "Responsio." Claimed to have been written by Statileus, but though contemporaries accepted that it was written by him such was not the case. Its real author was supposed to have been Dr. Peter Petit, of Paris. He may have written it, but there is no clear proof. The tradition that he did write it is probably responsible for the erroneous statement by many subsequent writers that Petit was the actual discoverer of the manuscript.

It was sent to Rome in 1668, where it was examined by experts, who found it similar in writing and paper to that of an original work of Petrarch. To this day no one has been able to ascertain who wrote this literary forgery.

There are people who actually believe that the best Opportunities have all been lassoed, haltered and hitched for life to somebody else's front door-post. But the truth is, nobody can corner Opportunity. For—

Opportunity is Everywhere.

The story is told of a Cup of many Handles. So many handles, in fact, that no matter from what direction one approached it, there was a handle to greet one. All that was necessary was to step up and TAKE the handle. Like unto this Cup is Opportunity.

Opportunity is Everywhere.

There is a handle in your town. You can grasp it if you will but reach for it. And you need have no fear that somebody else will beat you to your handle—for there is a handle for every single person in your town.

Opportunity is Everywhere.

Not in New York, or Chicago, or San Francisco alone, but in Kokomo, Indiana, Niles, Michigan and Tacoma, Washington. The handle is everywhere. Just hunt it out and GRASP it and don't let it get away from you. And after you have the handle, lift The Cup and drink from its priceless contents.

Opportunity is Everywhere.

Think of The Cup. Think of its Handles. When something comes up that ought to be done but that you don't want to do—DO it. That's a Handle. When something happens that takes you from your planned-out Task—have no fear. That's a Handle. Get a GRIP upon it. Always look for the Handles. And get in the habit of using them. This is the way to learn that—

Opportunity is Everywhere.

Wants Single Standard.

Editor Constitution: I have been reading with a good deal of interest the articles recently printed in The Constitution relating to the vice crusade being carried on in Atlanta and other cities, and want to say that I commend especially the article by Mrs. T. S. Holleman, of Athens. I am very glad to find that there is one woman who does not uphold the men in the stand that they take in regard to this very serious and most important subject, and it is most gratifying to find that she has the moral courage to make her views public in the way she has done.

It seems to me that it is very foolish for our legislators to try to suppress vice by making more laws, while no doubt a great deal of good will be accomplished thereby, still it is impossible to get at the root of the trouble in this manner, and I am quite sure that the members of the vice commission must fully realize that silk hosiery and peek-a-boo waists are not the cause, for these can be worn in all chastity and modesty; neither is the low wages of the working girls the cause, for it is not always the working girl who goes astray. Therefore, I say that the real cause has not as yet been touched.

I am a traveling man, have been on the road for five or six years; am married, and have three children. My dear old mother is largely responsible for the views that I hold on this subject, as she instilled the idea in my mind when I was very young that I had no right to do anything that I would not be willing for her or my sister to do. And as I grew older I readily saw that she was right. Now I fully believe that if every boy was taught this as he grows up instead of being told that he must sow his wild oats and get through with it before he marries and settles down, it would soon do away with the very unjust custom that we have allowed to prevail for so long a time, that custom of overlooking in a boy that for which we damn his sister, of excusing in a married man that for which we damn his wife. It is this custom that is the cause of so many murders, especially where the unwritten law is placed. In the name of a just and merciful God let me ask how can we blame a poor weak woman for going astray when she knows that her husband is daily setting her the example?

Suppose that the girls should demand chastity as one of the requisites of marriage, how many girls do you suppose there would be to every eligible man? And yet that is one of the first demands we men make.

New News of Yesterday

A Broker's Way of Rewarding a Faithful Employee.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The late Isaac P. Christiancy, who was for nearly four years a member of the United States senate, representing in part the state of Michigan, was looked upon by his colleagues in the senate as a man of profound legal ability and learning, although somewhat eccentric in some of his personal manners.

He had no stronger admirer than Senator George Frisbie Hoar, of Massachusetts. And yet Senator Hoar used to say to his friends that he was always prepared for any unique, eccentric or curious action on the part of Senator Christiancy.

Senator Hoar felt that he was justified in this when Judge Christiancy suddenly resigned his seat in the senate and accepted an appointment as minister to Peru. In the executive session of the senate, which was held to act upon his appointment, and which unanimously confirmed it, it was stated that the astonishment occasioned by the fact that Judge Christiancy was willing to resign a seat in the senate in order to accept appointment as minister to Peru was intensified when it was learned that President Hayes had at first offered the mission to Germany to Judge Christiancy, and after that offer was declined had again offered a diplomatic post in the form of the mission to Japan. Christiancy declined both of these offers, but accepted the comparatively obscure diplomatic post of minister to Peru.

In conversation with the late Senator William P. Frye, of Maine, in the fall of 1884, the name of Judge Christiancy happened to come up. Senator Frye said:

"I think Christiancy's record, at least in public life, is about as unique as any of which I have knowledge. Just think of it! He was the identical man who in 1854 brought about the fusion of what was left of the old whig party with the free-soil democracy, out of which grew the organization of the republican party.

"I have been told that Judge Christiancy was probably the only man in Michigan who could have perfected this fusion. You may remember, as of course all of us whose political life began practically with the organization of the republican party, do remember, that it was in the state of Michigan that the first inspiration and the first real leadership which compassed the republican party's birth took place, but very few know that Judge Christiancy was the man who did this.

"Now, the way in which Christiancy became a senator, in view of his early experience and influence, is to my thinking one of the queer features of what has been a very queer political career.

"He was as prominent in Michigan at the time of the first campaign of the republican party, when John C. Fremont was candidate of the party for president, as any man in the state. He had virtually created, or at least organized, the republican party in Michigan, yet in 1857, when he was the leading republican candidate for the United States senate, he was beaten. But, although beaten for the senate, Michigan elected him to one of her most important judgeships. He made a national reputation for the profundity of his judicial opinions.

"Now in 1875, after President Grant had made Zachary Chandler—then a senator from Michigan—secretary of war, the Michigan republicans thought they would have no difficulty in electing a straight-out republican as Chandler's successor. Twenty-one years earlier Christiancy perfected a whig and free-soil fusion out of which grew the republican party, and yet he could not be elected senator by the republicans.

"Now, in 1875, the Michigan politicians seemed to have remembered Christiancy's success as a fusionist. For a coalition or fusion was perfected between the democratic members of the legislature and a few republicans for whom the times were out of joint, and this fusion was strong enough to elect Christiancy as United States senator. After twenty-one years his reward and vindication came. I have always wondered what the real reason was which persuaded him, apparently upon a sudden whim, to resign his seat in the senate and accept such a comparatively trivial office as minister to Peru."

The Roosevelt Progressive "View."

Editor Constitution: Will you kindly allow me to give the correct reason why "the press, etc." is not "viewing with alarm" President Wilson's anti-precedent movements in the same sort of excitable editorial manner usual with a Roosevelt movement? The difference is the Roosevelt movement carried a punch that had a certainty as to effectiveness, while so far, a Wilson movement carries no fear of the punch with the sleep-producing effect. Some difference.

M'ELREATH NEW HEAD METHODIST STEWARDS

Younger Generation Came to the Fore at Annual Meeting Last Night.

Younger men of the denomination were to the fore last night at the annual meeting of the Atlanta Methodist Stewards' association in Grace church, when they occupied the greater portion of the program and achieved a majority of the offices in the election which was held.

Walter McElreath, of Grace church, was named president for the ensuing year; Bayne Gibson, Decatur, vice president, and Paul P. Reese, Trinity, secretary and treasurer. The nominating committee was Aldine Chambers, C. A. Tappan and F. B. Coleman.

The next quarterly meeting to be called by the executive committee, composed of the officers of the association, will be held at Wesley Memorial.

To Aid Presbyterians.

J. K. Orr, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, appeared before the meeting to ask co-operation of the Methodists of Atlanta in the entertainment of the commissioners to the joint meeting of the three great Presbyterian assemblies here in May, the first time in the history of that church that such a meeting has been held. It was recalled how the Presbyterians had opened their homes to the Methodist conference some years ago, and on motion of Col. Robert Lee Avery the stewards unanimously assured Mr. Orr that they would immediately undertake the task of placing their share of the visitors in the Methodist homes of the city.

Five-minute talks by "live wires" on experiences as stewards, impressions of the work and suggestions for the good of the cause, made the feature of the meeting.

"The spiritual side of our work is more important than the material, yet it is neglected for the collection of money to support the church," was the consensus of opinion delivered by Walker White, Wesley Memorial; Bayne Gibson, Decatur; Paul P. Reese, Trinity, and Fred Houser, St. Mark.

Frown on Sabbath Desecration.

"Stewards are under-shepherds of the pastor; they ought to set example to the congregation, and in Atlanta, especially in the matter of Sabbath observance," added Mr. Gibson.

"In this connection I want to call attention to a real estate advertisement that I read this afternoon. 'Salesman will be on the property Sunday,' it said. I believe that is wrong, and I want to urge that we frown on such things, and not give any support to them."

"A higher church body, a sort of aldermanic board to attend to the spiritual needs, might be a good thing for our church," said Mr. Reese. "By the time the stewards are through wrangling with finances, there is little time left for spiritual counsel. I think, too, we ought to try loving everybody—it's the greatest solution of all problems that I know."

"Smile—hustle—pray," was the composition of success in all work, as well as in church administration, Fred Houser told the assembled stewards, urging the first to get earthly co-operation, the second to get material results, and the third to secure divine aid, without which nothing can be done.

Leading Methodists Talk.

Colonel F. A. Quillian, W. A. Foster and Dr. J. W. Duncan made short impromptu talks.

R. J. Guinn, retiring president, presided over the meeting, with W. P. Bloodworth, secretary. Walter McElreath made an address of welcome. Mrs. T. W. Henderson sang a beautiful solo as part of the enjoyable musical program. Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, presiding elder of the district, pronounced the benediction.

Before the meeting organized the ladies of Grace church served a tempting hot supper in the basement of the church, and a rising vote of thanks for their gracious hospitality was extended them.

Twenty-five churches of the forty-four in the Atlanta district, which comprises Atlanta, Fulton county and Decatur, were represented at the meeting, Grace, Trinity and East Point leading in point of numbers.

SAVANNAH COUPLE WEDDED IN GARAGE

Savannah, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) With chugging motors sounding a wedding march, Miss Annie Ruth Morgan and Herbert C. Busha were married last night in Mr. Busha's garage by Rev. John S. Wilder, of the South Side Baptist church.

The wedding was the culmination of a pretty romance. It was in the garage that the two first met, when Miss Morgan, some months ago, became Mr. Busha's stenographer. Mr. and Mrs. Busha will remain in Savannah for several days, and then, in a new automobile, they will make their wedding journey to Pensacola, Fla., where the husband's mother lives.

3,500 SIGNATURES IN 3 DAYS TO CHARTER REFORM POSTALS

Although the postal card ballots were only mailed out to the voters Tuesday morning, more than 3,500 have been signed and returned according to a statement made by Paul P. Reese, secretary of the charter campaign committee, Thursday afternoon.

Secretary Reese said that the cards are being signed up and returned at a faster rate than the committee anticipated. He expects more than 4,000 by Friday night.

And every card has been properly signed and filled out, and represents the sentiment of the voter. Each card is an emphatic demand that council, the city executive committee, and the local members of the legislature submit both charters to the people to be voted on at an election to be held within fifty days.

After a reasonable time has elapsed, the committee will turn the cards over to a reputable certified accountant to be compared with the registration list of the last municipal white primary, and an affidavit signed by the accountant will e turned over to the committee.

Council will not be in a position to deny the correctness of the count, or the sentiment of the people. It declined to honor the resolutions adopted by the mass meeting of citizens, although nearly 5,000 approved them.

Mayor Woodward said Thursday that he expected more than 9,000 cards would be returned to the committee before the end of the week.

CHILLY WEATHER ON THE PROGRAM SAYS WEATHER MAN

Another dash of real chilly weather is promised for tonight and early tomorrow morning, and before the spell is over the temperature is due to drop to something like 40 or 45 degrees, giving spring rather a sickly appearance in the eyes of Atlantans with straw hats.

In the meantime the long delayed rain is due early this morning. It is through the medium of the cooling change after the rainfall that the cold weather is to come. The rain itself is not predicted to amount to much, and should be considerably less than half an inch—just enough to settle the dust.

For the past two days the local weather bureau has been promising rain, which has steadily refused to show up. An explanation was given Thursday when a view of the weather map showed that the area of storms over Texas on Wednesday had diverted from its usual path toward the eastern coast and had made a northern swoop toward Chicago and the Great Lake region, leaving this part of the country dry.

When a rain storm appears in Texas it usually heads this way, and Atlanta gets its share of moisture. As a result of the reports from Texas on Wednesday the country between Dallas and Atlanta was dotted with little rain flags, which the absence of rain left high and dry.

"But we'll do the same thing again," said the weatherman with a shake of his head, "for under the conditions of Wednesday the storm should have swept over us, and will do it 99 out of 100 times."

HOLLINS RANDOLPH TO REPRESENT GEORGIA

Mr. and Mrs. Hollins N. Randolph have been appointed by Governor Brown to represent the state of Georgia at the unveiling of the monument to Thomas Jefferson at St. Louis on April 30.

The governor was in receipt of a letter from the Thomas Jefferson Memorial association, of St. Louis, asking him to have Georgia represented, and he has notified the association that the state will be well represented by Mr. and Mrs. Randolph.

The appointment is deeply appreciated by Mr. Randolph, as he is the great-great grandson of Thomas Jefferson.

"My wife and I will accept the appointment," states Mr. Randolph, "and I will do my best to show the people of Missouri, that Georgia is truly the Empire State of the South."

The occasion of the unveiling is to be of national importance, and there will be present representatives from every state in the union.

TRAINING SCHOOL TO OPEN NEXT SUNDAY

Five meetings daily for three weeks, lunch served at the church by the ladies of the congregation, plenty of good speakers and students here from the entire south, is what is comprehended in the announcement that the fourth annual session of the Atlanta Baptist Training school opens t the First church, April 13, continuing until April 20.

John M. Green is president of the school, and George W. Andrews director. Members of the faculty are Dr. P. E. Burroughs, Nashville; Arthur Flake, Baldwyn, Miss., and Frank H. Leavell and George W. Andrews, Atlanta. The school will awa' diplomas to all who attend eighteen lectures, and to the normal students of the Sunday school board.

On Sunday afternoon, April 20, a big recognition meeting will be held, Dr. C. W. Daniel, pastor of the First church, to be the principal speaker.

NEW HEADS NAMED FOR COMMITTEES OF HOME SOCIETY

The directors of the Georgia Children's Home society met in their offices in the Gould building Thursday afternoon and organized their forces for the year.

The following committees were appointed by the president, Captain James W. English, Sr.:

Executive Committee—Albert Howell, Jr., chairman; David Marx, Morris Brandon, H. C. Worthen, Hughes Spalding.

Finance Committee—George R. Donavan, chairman; W. D. Beatie, V. H. Kriegshaber, J. Epps Brown, W. J. Harris.

Publicity Committee—Paul Reese, chairman; Ben Lee Crew, Fred Houser, Albert Adams, Charlton G. Ozburn.

The directors carefully reviewed the work of the society thus far, and came to the conclusion that great results had been obtained with very small expenditures.

A resolution was adopted instructing the directors to address a letter to the public over their signatures calling attention to the necessity of the home finding work for the orphan children of the state, and asking that friends of the work join them in a larger effort.

The society has provided homes for seventy children with some of the best families in Georgia, and there are a number of homes that have applied for children. It has cost the society not more than $50 each to provide these homes.

JONES ASKS PARDON; WAS MACON DETECTIVE

Application was made yesterday to the prison commission for the pardon of Thomas H. Jones, the ex-detective of Macon, who is serving a life-sentence for the murder of Wiley Bishop, a policeman of Macon. Among those who appeared before the commission in behalf of Jones were Attorney W. D. McNeill, Attorney Robert L. Berner, Attorney W. A. McClelland and Dr. O. C. Gibson.

Bishop was killed by Jones in Macon in a house of questionable character over four years ago. Johnny B. Jones, a cousin of Thomas H. Jones, confessed that he fired the fatal shot, but Thomas H. was tried and convicted. Later Johnny B. was tried and also convicted. He appealed, and the supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court on the ground that Thomas H. Jones had already been convicted of the murder.

EPISCOPALIANS TO MEET AT COUNCIL IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The annual council of the diocese of Atlanta, Episcopal church in Georgia, will be held at the parish house of Emmanuel church in Athens on May 28 and 29. There will be a large attendance of rectors and lay representatives from the churches in Atlanta, Macon, Gainesville and other churches in the territory of the Atlanta diocese. Bishop C. K. Nelson will preside.

U. S. RECEIVERSHIP FOR HARRIMAN LINES

Possibility of the Government Taking Charge of the Union and Southern Pacific.

Washington, April 10.—There is a probability of the government taking charge of the properties of the Union Pacific - Southern Pacific merger through a receivership if the United States court at St. Louis does not approve the new plan of dissolution, rejected by Attorney General McReynolds.

The railroads have until May 10 to present a plan of dissolution acceptable to the St. Louis court. Failing to comply with this condition, the supreme court provided for settlement of the question by government receivership.

Mr. McReynolds today was advised that the railroad hopes to submit its plan to the court on April 21. The attorney general will oppose its approval.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 53

Lawlessness and License -- VS -- Law and Liberty

So Shall I Keep Thy Law Continually---
And I Will Walk at Liberty
---Psalm 119-44; 45

Speaking of charters and ordinances.

The Police Board has to obey the law.

The Police Board is not composed of crooks.

These two truths do not conflict.

Neither had they been overlooked by the Police Board, its Chairman or the Chief of Police.

But some few citizens, a sad minority, having themselves forgotten both truths, were making so much noise, there was danger that the public might be misled.

Hence, Alderman Candler's resolution reminded them at an opportune time of the first truth;

To wit: THE POLICE BOARD IS SUBJECT TO LAW.

To the same sad minority this truth was comprehended only in the light of a deliberate insult—

To say that a public official is subject to law?

You can hear them asking, "What's the use of holding office, then?"

And, when Alderman Nutting's resolution called to their attention the second truth:

THE POLICE BOARD IS RESPECTED AND TRUSTED BY COUNCIL—

They asked: "Can a man keep his oath, obey the law and yet be respected and trusted by Council?"

You answer "Yes," but they honestly say "No," for they really believe that this last resolution was intended to contradict the former.

They are mistaken.

Open your eyes and ears!

You can hear and see the signs of the times.

Atlanta has been spared the disgrace of a corrupt Chief of Police and a dishonest, grafting Board.

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT IS THE SHAME OF MOST CITIES.

Harper's Weekly recently said: "Take the much discussed white slave traffic and the dreadful mixup of the police forces of New York, Chicago and most other cities with prostitution.

"Somehow, that has got to stop—

"There is enough powder in this issue to blow up Tammany Hall and elect as Mayor of New York a man who can be relied on to clean up the police and chase the last man out of association with the business of prostitution—

"The District Attorney seems to be doing his best to rid our skirts of the shame of maintaining a police force that protects panderers and pimps and vendors of women—

"Woe to any politician backed by whatever group of rascals that tries to use power delegated by the people of New York to impede his honest efforts."

A daily paper says:

"Atlanta's police situation today is the most remarkable in the history of any city in this country.

"It repudiates the stories—that the system makes a crook of a policeman who climbs up through the ranks."

CHIEF BEAVERS IS HONEST.

He is efficient.

Protected vice has been killed by him without leaving a stain on the name of our city.

Neither the Police Board nor Council would stop the Chief from keeping his oath and obeying the law.

THANK GOD FOR THE CHIEF, THE POLICE BOARD AND THE COUNCIL!

Atlanta is safe.

And some are saying, that the suggestion of such a scandal as the recent talk of bribery by brewers and barkeepers could be prevented in future by a few simple ordinances framed along the same lines as those which have driven prostitution from Atlanta.

Under present conditions this might be better than to curtail or abolish the powers of Council.

Unquestionably, to drive the supposed bribers out would be simpler.

THINK IT OVER!

Atlanta is clean and will remain clean.

Take no chances.

Kleptomaniac of Men's Hearts Caught By Pen of Corra Harris

BRILLIANT GEORGIAN'S NEW STORY

By Isma Dooly

Corra Harris' next story is entitled "In Search of a Husband," and it presents a woman who is a kleptomaniac of men's hearts. It is to be published first in the Saturday Evening Post in the early summer, and will be published in book form by Doubleday, Page & Co., in the autumn.

George Horace Lorimer, editor of The Post, who has recognized the genius of Mrs. Harris from the time he saw her first manuscript, declares that this forthcoming story is the best that the gifted young southern woman has contributed to literature. The late Harry Peyton Steger, of Doubleday, Page & Co., in a letter to me, written after he had seen the early manuscript of the story when he visited Mrs. Harris in the fall, stated: "There is an expression of new talent in this last story of our brilliant friend which convinces me that I do not exaggerate when I say that no woman of our today has made a more brilliant contribution to literature."

Another serial story from the pen of Mrs. Harris will appear in Harper's during the summer, this likewise to be put into book form by her publishers, Doubleday, Page & Co.

A Kleptomaniac Of Hearts.

Of the story, "In Search of a Husband," Mrs. Harris explained to me on her last visit here, in the fall, that it is not intended so much to give a picture of social life in the south as to show the mind of a woman who is kleptomaniac of men's hearts. Mrs. Harris left Atlanta then to go to the little farm home near Cartersville, Ga., where she has done her most studious work for the past two years, and near which city she has purchased a small farm, in which will center her permament home. She worked there for several months, then went to Nashville, where she has been during the winter months.

It is stated by her publishers and those of Mrs. Harris' friends who are close to her that her correspondence is one of the greatest compensations which have come to her in her literary career. In her books she has so much reached down into the human hearts of men and women that letters come to her indicating that personal hold her writings get on people individually, and the tributes which come to her in that way are a continued inspiration. Other communications delight her sense of humor in that she is accused of meaning some one woman in every community in which her books are read.

Mrs. Harris' First Printed Story.

Mrs. Harris, whose history is so well known in Georgia, where in Elbert county she was born, wrote her first article about eighteen years ago, her first story having been printed in The Sunny South, after it had been read by Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, who saw in those first effusions the spark of genius which has since brought Mrs. Harris into the big world of literature.

The first articles which created interest in the magazine world were published in The Independent, to which publication Mrs. Harris is still a contributor. Her first book of note was the "Circuit Rider's Wife," which still holds as one of the most read and discussed books of present day publication. "Eve's Second Husband" followed, which by English as well as American critics has been tremendously exploited.

The American reader generally preferred the "Circuit Rider's Wife," and both were sharing the arguments that come with comparison when the "Recording Angel" flashed across the pages of the Saturday Evening Post and excited anew the individuals who had carped at Mrs. Harris for the want of orthodoxy in the "Circuit Rider's Wife."

Mrs. Harris was again burnt at the stake in the minds of those who build up religion on one side of the road and their bungalow-sized lives on the other side of the road. She was attacked by a critic in The Independent, who berated her for her naughtiness, and she replied with a fervor of spiritual insight into religion in its deepest form, the reply powerful for its thought and striking in its fluency of expression.

Her Friends Are Loyal and Loving.

The people to whom it has been given to know Mrs. Harris love her with a loyalty and tenderness that few individuals have the blessing to realize.

Though fearless in spirit and valiantly fearless in thought and expression, she is a woman of the most pronounced womanliness in her tastes and ideas. She is loving and trusting toward her friends, and dependent upon their affection and encouragement for the carrying influence of her work.

She has the most placid exterior, her manner thoughtful and quiet, but when fired either by interest, or an injury which she feels has been done, or by a keenly felt pleasure, her manner changes to a kind of quiet intensity, and she talks out her thoughts so freely, so earnestly, and in a voice so low, people lean away forward to listen, lest they miss one word of the wonderful things she has to say.

Mrs. Harris will probably spend the summer abroad on a rest trip, as she has had a winter of hard work and the spring months are still full with professional obligations.

Lewis-Cogburn.

The wedding of Miss Lollie Lewis and Mr. James Carroll Cogburn was an interesting event of yesterday, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lewis, on West Peachtree street. The ceremony at high noon was witnessed by a large company of relatives and friends.

The apartments were beautifully decorated, masses of smilax, palms and ferns forming a background for Easter lilies and Killarney roses.

The bridal party stood in the drawing room before an altar of palms and ferns. On either side of the altar were pedestals draped with smilax and topped with Easter lilies.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. J. Clarke Lewis, and was charming in her traveling gown of blue ratine. Her blue Neapolitan straw hat was trimmed with white aigrettes and she carried bride roses and valley lilies.

Miss Jan Robinson was maid of honor, and was gowned in blue crepe de chine, with hat to match, and carried Killarney roses.

Mr. Baldwin Carlwill, of Edgefield, S. C., was Mr. Cogburn's best man, and Dr. DuBose, of the First Methodist church, officiated.

A wedding breakfast was served from the dining room, where all of the decorative details were in pink. The centerpiece of the bride's table was a plateau of Killarney roses.

Mrs. Lewis, the bride's mother, was gowned in black crepe de chine, and was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. William B. Cogburn, of Edgefield, S. C., mother of the groom; Miss Mary Clarke, Miss Annabel Clarke of Hawkinsville, Mrs. Fred Cole and Mrs. J. A. Harris.

Miss Elizabeth Ramey kept the bride's book, and Miss Christine Melson and Miss Laura Cole served punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Cogburn left for a wedding trip east, and on their return will make their home in Atlanta.

To Miss King.

A series of parties, beginning with Mrs. William Akers' tea today, will anticipate the wedding of Miss Ruth King and Mr. Carl F. New, of Baltimore, which takes place on the 22d.

Miss Tommie Perdue will give a matinee party Monday.

Miss Leonora Maddox will give a luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Beaumont Davison in Druid Hills.

Mrs. Irving Thomas will give a tea Thursday.

Mrs. Norman Sharpe will give a bridge at the East Lake club house Friday, the 18th.

Miss Louise Riley and Miss Jeanette Lowndes will entertain at luncheon Monday, the 21st, at the Driving club.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John O. DuPree gave a beautiful dinner last night in compliment to Miss Alene Gentry and Mr. John J. Woodside, Jr., the party including also Miss Nina Gentry, Mrs. J. D. Hooks of Americus, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall McKenzie; Messrs. Philip L'Engle, Fred Patterson, Charles DuPree, Graham Phelan.

The table centerpiece was a basket of pink roses and valley lilies, the silver candlesticks had pink shades and all the color details were pink and white. The place cards were cupids and orange blossoms.

Mrs. DuPree was gowned in king's blue chiffon over white satin, the chiffon veiling an embroidery in pink. Her guest, Mrs. Hooks, of Americus, wore lavender crepe meteor, with crystal trimming.

Spend-the-Day Party.

Mrs. William H. Eckford entertained eight ladies delightfully at luncheon yesterday and her guests, spending the day, studied the operas to be put on in Atlanta, and afterwards enjoyed a contest in opera roles.

The luncheon table decorations were an effective arrangement of violets, wild azalea, dogwood and wistaria, and the place cards were pen and ink sketches of opera singers.

Mrs. Weller's Tea.

Mrs. Allen Claud Weller entertained twenty-five young women at afternoon tea yesterday, the occasion a pretty compliment to Miss Allene Gentry.

Red roses and palms decorated the apartment and the tea table was an inviting picture in red, the centerpiece a plateau of liberty roses and fern.

Mrs. Weller was gowned in apricot charmeuse, the corsage draped with lace embroidered in gold. Miss Lillian Jones, of Waynesboro, who is her guest, wore green charmeuse, the corsage draped with green chiffon over cloth of silver.

Miss Helen Thorne, Miss Julia Meador and Mrs. Marshall McKenzie poured tea.

To Mrs. Snow.

Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman's bridge yesterday afternoon was a happily informal occasion, assembling her bridge club and an extra table of guests to meet Mrs. William H. Snow, of Connecticut, the guest of Mrs. John Raine.

The occasion will be a brilliant display of student work and all interested are invited to be present.

Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman entertained the members of her bridge club and one extra table at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on West Peachtree street, in compliment to Mrs. William H. Snow, of Connecticut, the guest of Mrs. John Raine. Purple and white iris, artistically arranged, decorated Mrs. Hinman's attractive home. The prizes were a mahogany tray and silk stockings, and Mrs. Snow was given a French corsage bouquet.

Mrs. Alex Stirling invited a few friends to meet Mrs. Snow at an informal luncheon yesterday at her home at East Lake.

Miss Stecht to Entertain.

Miss Pauline Stecht will entertain fifty guests Friday evening at her home at an Epworth League social.

Housekeepers' Aids.

The advance display at Maier & Berkele's yesterday of fancy articles to be on sale today and tomorrow at the "Housekeepers' Blue Tag Sale" attracted the attention of every passerby, and the daintiness and beauty of the confections in ribbon and lace made many customers.

The sale will be held at 79 Whitehall street, the Singer Sewing Machine store, and there will be a host of very practical household aids forming the collection, all made by the skilled fingers of the Junior Missionary society, First Methodist church.

Home-made cake and candy will also be included.

Shiloh Day.

The battle of Shiloh was memorialized at the regular meeting yesterday of the Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C., this the annual celebration which is observed by the Daughters of the Confederacy in all their chapters.

Mrs. Williams McCarthy, president, conducted the brief business meeting, and afterwards Mrs. John K. Ottley, chairman for Shiloh day, directed a program which was in nearly all details the program recommended by the Shiloh monument headquarters for the national organization.

Extracts from a story of Shiloh by Mrs. Battle, of Houston, Texas, were read by Mrs. Ottley. Miss Vivian Mathews read a group of poems, "War, Peace and Memory," by Elizabeth F. Page, poet laureate of the Tennessee division, and appropriate verses by Mrs. Rore, president of the Mississippi division.

Mrs. C. Helen Plane, honorary president of Atlanta Chapter, gave an informal review of early days of work in the chapter, and the pledge of fifty dollars, which is annually voted by the chapter to the Shiloh monument fund, was contributed.

A delightful feature of the evening was a group of songs by Mrs. Will King. She has returned from Washington to make her home here, and her very pleasing voice gave promise of a valuable addition to Atlanta's list of singers.

FARMERS OF STEWART BUSY WITH PLANTING

Tomkins, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Farmers in this locality have been getting good work done lately in planting their crops. So much rain has fallen during the year that, prior to a few days ago, but little planting had been done, though the land had been prepared for it. Now, however, about all the corn has been planted, and probably one-third of the cotton crop.

The work is not so well advanced as it was at this time last year, but is better advanced than at same time during the year 1911. The oats crop is generally good, particularly the portion that was planted during the fall, and spring oats are very nice. A good harvest is anticipated from present indications.

Still Looking for Him.

LOUIE MOORE,
Whose mother thinks he has been decoyed from home.

SEARCH IS CONTINUED FOR MISSING YOUNGSTER

Nothing has yet been heard of Louie Moore, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Beulah Moore, of No. 1 Woodson street. The last seen of the boy was when he started for school Wednesday morning. Mrs. Moore thought her son was going to school, and was surprised when he did not return after school was out.

Mrs. Moore fears her son has run away or been decoyed from the city. He has always been a good boy, she states, and there was no reason why he should leave home.

The boy is described as being stout for his age, of ruddy complexion, and when he left home he wore a brown suit and cap.

Any information can be sent to the police, or to his mother, who is deeply distressed at her son's disappearance.

COBB COUNTY SHERIFF PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Marietta, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Sheriff R. S. Lindley, of Cobb county, died at his home here of peritonitis, after an illness of two days. Mr. Lindley took office January 1, 1913, and has made a most excellent record in that important place. He served as deputy sheriff the two preceding years under J. H. Kincaid.

The deceased leaves a wife and six children. His mother, now 79 years old, also survives him, he being her only child. The funeral will be conducted at 11 a. m. Thursday at the late residence. The burial will be at Midway, 8 miles west of Marietta, in

It is then proposed to make Lawrenceville the northern terminus, and extend the southern end to Savannah or Augusta.

CHAMBER THANKS PRESIDENT MOORE FOR SPLENDID WORK

The directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, at their monthly meeting held yesterday afternoon, adopted a resolution on the death of their lamented treasurer, Joseph T. Orme, and unanimously elected Thomas D. Meador as treasurer to fill the unexpired term.

The board adopted a resolution of thanks to President Moore for his liberality and public spirit in contributing a handsome loving cup to the membership campaign and also a resolution of thanks to the committee for their splendid work in the membership campaign.

A resolution was adopted thanking the canvassing committee.

An invitation from the Ladies' Memorial association for the chamber of commerce to take part in the exercises on Memorial day was accepted, as was also the invitation of Mrs. V. H. Kriegshaber and Mrs. John D. Pickett, chairman board of lady visitors, for the directors to visit the Inman Park school and see "penny lunches" served.

An appropriation was made by which the chamber will offer the same prizes to the public schools in the city that were offered last year for securing clean-up day pledges. The prizes consist of $25 for the first, $15 for the second and $10 for the third prize for the white schools, and similar prizes for the colored schools.

This matter will be handled by the committee on sanitation, of which C. J. Haden is chairman. Mr. Haden will co-operate with a committee from the City Federation of Women's clubs.

The question of a corn show for 1913 and the co-operation of the chamber of commerce in the corn club work was discussed informally and the question of an appropriation for this purpose was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says she: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands."

The "Floor-and-Door-a" Girl

Then Mrs. Jones, one afternoon, dropped in, at time most opportune. An optimist, she knew the wiles of household work—its sighs and smiles. She told of how she polished floors and woodwork and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-do!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of dust behind. Each mark of sticky hands on doors, each tread of muddy feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun." This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in ev'ry Grind, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.

ANSLEY-BRANDON.

Thomasville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—A marriage of great interest which was also a brilliant social event was that of Miss Alice May Ansley and Mr. Edgar Reid Brandon, which took place at the First Presbyterian church in this city last night, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. S. L. McCarty, pastor of the church. Unusual beauty marked the decorations used in the church which were of white and green. Branches of beautiful white dogwood and festoons of southern smilax were used throughout the church and stately palms and pure white lilies were grouped at the altar, lighted by shaded candles from many tall silver candelabra.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marianne Watt and Miss Susie Brandon. Mrs. James A. Mallette was matron of honor and Miss Mary Jerger was maid of honor. Theushers were Mr. Campbell Ansley, Mr. David Brandon, Mr. Sidney Fleming and Mr. Lebbeus Dekle. Mr. Will Parker, of Pelham, acted as best man. Miss Susie Ansley and Miss Margaret Mitchell were flower girls.

After the ceremony at the church, a large reception was given to the bridal party and a number of friends at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Ansley. Among the out-of-town relatives of the contracting parties who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Ansley, Miss Laura Ansley and Miss Frances Ansley of Atlanta, Mr. Cliff Ansley of Decatur, Mrs. Jack Stickney of Chattanooga, Mr. Wallace Brandon of Dublin and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon left on the midnight train for a short bridal trip north and on their return they will make their home for a while with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brandon, the groom's parents.

BABIES NOT WANTED IN FRENCH CAPITAL

Paris, April 10.—The birth rate in the French capital for 1912 was the lowest since 1861, according to a municipal report made public today. There was only one birth for every thirty families.

The infantile death rate was 143 per thousand. Prohibitive rentals are said to have been the chief cause for the decrease in the number of births.

BRAIN MUST BACK FINGERS, SAYS STENOGRAPHIC EXPERT

"I do not think any girl can become an expert stenographer without a high school education," was the positive statement of Miss Margaret B. Owen, of New Jersey, who holds the championship in this country for expert stengoraphy, having won the thousand dollar prize for the best one hour's work offered in the business show in Madison Square this year. The prize was offered to any amateur writer who would break the professional world's championship of 112 net words a minute made in 1911. Miss Owen broke the record with 114 words a minute in the one hour's time.

"There were about twenty-five competitors," explained Miss Owen, in a conversation she carried on with a Constitution employee during the one minute's time it took her to type 143 words on the Underwood typewriter.

"Yes, don't hesitate to talk to me while I write," she said, as she gave a further demonstration for a group of people assembled in The Constitution office. In the demonstration in speed alone, the same line repeated during one minute's time, Mrs. Owen typed 243 words.

Uneducated Woman Handicapped.

Though the final expression of Miss Owen's achievement is in her finger tips, her mind directs every movement of her fingers, and she has a remarkably well trained mind.

"It is unfortunate that young women choosing stenography as a medium of livelihood do not appreciate that they cannot become experts without a good fundamental English education," said Miss Owen when asked about the requisition for success in her line.

"The untrained woman mentally only go so far without the basic education. She may be very industrious and develop marvelous speed, but she can't accomplish the higher order of business in the line of stenography without the higher training the High school gives, and then she cannot afford to stop studying. She must go on trying to live up to whatever the test is."

Uses Touch System.

In demonstrating on the typewriter it was a noticeable fact that Miss Owen observes strictly the touch system, all the strength developed in the fingers. She sat at the machine in the same form that a student of music is required to sit at the piano, and there was scarcely any movement of the arms except when she adjusted the machine at the end of lines.

Miss Owen's hands were soft and in perfect condition, and her finger tips were not in the slightest "spread," as one often notes in typists. She is extremely young and pretty, and there was an air of relaxation rather than tension in her attitude.

On her present trip, which is to extend through the entire south, she is accompanied by her mother, and is delighted with her southern experiences.

She is a native of New Jersey, and graduated from the high school before going to business college. Taking there the most difficult course mapped out for women, she had about eighteen months' experience before making the expert record she now holds.

MISS MARGARET B. OWEN, Stenographic champion, who gives advice to women wage-earners.

MORGAN ARRANGED FOR HIS OWN FUNERAL

New York, April 10.—Arrangements for the funeral of J. Pierpont Morgan, closely following instructions written by him some time before his death, were announced this afternoon by St. George's Episcopal church of this city, where the services will take place at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Bishop Greer, of the Episcopal diocese of New York, will conduct the service, assisted by Bishops Lawrence, of Massachusetts, and Brewster, of Connecticut, and the Rev. Karl Reiland, rector of St. George's.

The simple Episcopal service will be followed rigorously and hymns chosen by Mr. Morgan will be sung. The honorary pallbearers will be George S. Bowdoin, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Robert W. Deforest, Henry Fairfield Osborn, Joseph H. Choates, Robert Bacon, George B. Baker, James W. Markle, Elbert H. Gary, Seth Low, Morton S. Paton and Elihu Root.

The pallbearers will sit in pews directly behind the Morgan family and behind them will sit the vestry of St. George's.

The demand for seats has been so insistent that hundreds of applicants could no tbe honored. After the ceremony a special train will take the body to Hartford, where it will be placed in the Morgan mausoleum.

It is none of our business, admittedly, still we doubt if any man has a right to ride around in an automobile that covers ground enough to grow a bale of cotton on.

CHURCH OFFICERS ARE PUT TO WORK BY CHAIR FAMINE

There is a famine in the infant chair supply of Atlanta!

Because the First Christian church has been unable to obtain chairs enough to seat the droves of children who have been coming to the Sunday school in greater numbers every week, an elder and two deacons have volunteered to take up saw and hammer and make benches Friday and Saturday of this week, in order to have adequate capacity next Sunday. Accordingly, the sound of blows and the driving of nails will be heard in the church for the next two days.

This heroic step has been necessary because the factory in North Carolina from whom the church ordered a large supply after all the chairs obtainable in Atlanta had been purchased, has sent all it has with the message, "You've bought us out."

These chairs are made especially for little children, and are unique in their make-up. No more like them can be bought anywhere in Atlanta, and so until another factory shipment can be obtained, some of the children will have to sit on benches. Within a week or two, however, the new chairs will be here.

STATE ASKED TO HELP HOME FOR OLD WOMEN

Appropriation Wanted for Veterans' Widows—Handsome New Annex Opened.

A little here, a little there, and some from over yonder, is how the loyal workers for the Home for Old Women describe the building of their handsome new annex, which was opened yesterday afternoon.

And perhaps that is very accurate—at least some of the stories which Mrs. Purtell and Mrs. Farley and Mrs. Solar and the rest tell, confirm that impression, but it conveys no idea of what has been accomplished, of the $20,000 annex which cost less than $9,000, and which is a fitting enlargement of the beautiful Wimpey place on West End avenue, where the home is located.

But, however, it was achieved, the annex marks the culmination of years of effort and unswerving devotion, of work which has aroused Atlanta to the beautiful charity being conducted there. Not quite the culmination even, for the cornerstone is not laid, though it has been donated. Mrs. Purtell says it can't decorate the granite base of the massive colonial house until a $2,000 debt, all that is unpaid, is liquidated.

She added, for the information of the city, that the cornerstone will be laid in about two weeks!

Will Ask State for Aid.

There is another thing which the board of managers is striving for, and that is an annual appropriation from the state toward the care of the veterans' widows, now sheltered in the home, who are given no pension. Mrs. Purtell took the solons over the place last June—and was told that $2,000 would have been forthcoming if it had been "Home for Old Women and Veterans' Widows," instead of "Home for Old Women." The donated cornerstone, and an addition to the nameplate over the door, which will be donated as soon as some hear the need of it, will correct this unfortunate oversight.

In other words, Mrs. Purtell gets her $2,000 next June!

The Home for Old Women was started in 1906, when a small group of charity workers, who had been taking care of several old women in various places, decided that there was need of a central home. There only remained to get the home.

Standing on the site of the present Masonic Temple there was an unoccupied house which the ladies decided suited their needs. A strategic move describes their investment of the place, how the keys were obtained from a certain realty office, and how the defenses were marshaled when the flabbergasted owners and renting agents found out what had been done. Was was declared—but the ladies stayed.

Handsome House Bought.

From there the home was moved to Mitchell street, not because any law actions forced them to, but because it was a better location for their purpose. And in 1908, in April, the present house was secured through the generous co-operation of the owner, W. E. Wimpey, who gave $5,000 toward the purchase. Mr. Wimpey was one of the happiest visitors at the reception marking the completion of the annex.

Twenty-three old women are now in the home. It is fitted up in excellent taste, and everything is of the best quality, for permanence. Six memorial rooms are in the house. Merchants gave liberally. The men of the Southern Shops fitted up the front sitting room in leather-upholstered mahogany furniture, good rugs and pictures. "The Butterflies," not one of whom is under the age of 75, furnished the room where meetings and the Sunday afternoon devotional services are held.

One room, or rather suite of rooms, holds pathetic interest in its dedication to the late John Barclay, founder of the Barclay mission, which will be kept for the use of his widow, an invalid, as long as she lives. She does not occupy it at present, but it is hoped that she will maker her home there.

Annex Is Started.

When the need of the annex was felt—for there is a waiting list now of many women who need protection in the home—lack of funds did not deter those in charge.

"I'll guarantee the payroll every Saturday night, if we can just begin," stoutly promised Mrs. Purtell, and those with her know how she has kept her word. She has given able assistance, and the work proceeded without delay. The granite came from the county. A carload of cement was the gift of a single firm. Mantels came from another, electrical fixtures of polished brass and finest wiring that could be done, were donated by various contractors. Paint for the entire house, which has been done over, was the gift of a New York manufacturer, and paper came from others.

Perhaps the most enlightening thing in connection with the entire charity is that the workmen on the building each gave one day's labor as a contribution.

Who Will Furnish These Rooms?

It's all complete now. Several rooms remain unfurnished, the largest of these being the dining room, but it is hoped that these will not remain that way long. Matting, rugs, curtains, furniture, everything in the furnished rooms has been generously donated by both firms and private individuals.

The annex provides for thirty more old women, whose advent is awaited with eager interest by the twenty-three already there, gentle old souls waiting in the shadows of the windows for the last summons, many of them alone and friendless, but all assured of kindness and protection.

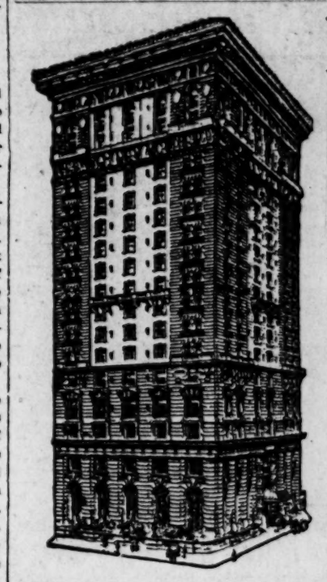

The ladies behind the charity are Mrs. S. J. Purtell, founder and president; Mrs. F. M. Farley, vice president; Mrs. R. B. Haslett, treasurer; Mrs. E. P. Wood, corresponding secretary; Miss Arian Purtell, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. E. Cantrell, Mrs. Leslie Solar and Mrs. H. D. Lipford, heads of important committees. Joseph A. McCord, of the Third National bank, has been treasurer of the building fund since the home was started.

Cousin of Jeff Davis.

St. Louis, April 10.—Mrs. Ellen Malone Wheeless, a cousin of Jefferson Davis, president of the Southern Confederacy, is dead at her home here. She was 72 years old.

I'LL BET A DIME YOU WON'T READ THIS UNLESS YOU'RE LOOKING FOR "CLASS" IN EATING

"Class" in eating is a much abused word.

Some folks think they are getting "class" in a restaurant because of the prices charged. Others mean "class" when they can eat at an exclusive club.

By what standard are we to judge "class" in eating?

A person with a healthy appetite wants that appetite satisfied with foods that are pure, well seasoned and well cooked; foods that are appetizing, and which are served in a conveniently located place which is attractively furnished, and where an air of refinement and real "class" prevails. One wants all of these things, yet the demands of today upon the pocketbook require that not too much outlay be required of him or her who may not be in the class of people with lots of money to spend and no way to spend it.

To Meet All These Requirements Cafe Denechaud is The One Place of "Class" For You and I

Any member of any family in Atlanta who is able to spend from 25c to 75c for a good, substantial lunch each day, ordering a la carte, should come to Cafe Denechaud. Or perhaps preference would be given to our regular table d'hote Business Men's Lunch, served daily from 12 to 2:30, at 40c. There's real class to this. Then, for the evening meal, Cafe Denechaud offers such a splendid variety of well-cooked selections at reasonable prices that even the most fastidious will be pleased. Our Sunday dinner at $1.00, served from 12 to 2:30, and from 6 to 8, is just such a table d'hote as you have long desired.

We are always glad to arrange special dishes for individuals or for parties during the day or night. We solicit the patronage of persons desiring "class" in food and service.

In making Shredded Wheat Biscuit we steam-cook the grains of whole wheat, draw them out into delicate, filmy shreds, form them into little loaves or Biscuit and bake them a crisp, golden brown. Because of its biscuit form you can do so many things with Shredded Wheat which you cannot do with other breakfast cereals.

For breakfast heat the Biscuit in the oven a few moments to restore crispness; then pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream; salt or sweeten to suit the taste. It is deliciously nourishing and wholesome for any meal with stewed prunes, baked apples, sliced bananas, preserved peaches, pineapple or other fruits. At your grocer's.

Crackers Drive More to Bench; Weaver Given Great Support

Keating and Smith Star With Scintillating Stops and Throws—Graham Poles Out Three Hits—Welchonce Cleans Bases With Triple—Lookouts Make Triple Play, Crackers Three Doubles.

SOUTHPAW DUEL TODAY; ATTENDANCE WAS POOR.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 10.—(Special.)—Friday's battle, the second of the series between the Crackers and the Lookouts, will be a battle of southpaws.

Gilbert Price will twirl for the Crackers, Harry Coveleskie, the big Pole, for the locals. Graham and Street will again do the receiving.

There is a possibility of two changes being made in the Chattanooga line-up. Carl Flick may supplant Jordan at second, and Douglas Harbison may take Massey's place at third. Both these players were bought Wednesday, and are due Friday morning.

The paid attendance at the opener Thursday was only 3,900. The rain in the morning and the threatening weather in the afternoon kept the fans away from the park.

BY W. G. FOSTER.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 10.—(Special.)—Atlanta batsmen overwhelmed More with a regular deluge of clean, hard hits in the fifth inning today and carried away the first game of the season by a score of 6 to 1.

Smith's team played a marvelous game, not only in their hitting, but in the field. Weaver, tight in the opening innings, became a little more soluble in the late frames, but phenomenal fielding, principally by Keating and Smith, cut down the runs.

The game was started in a driving rain, continued for a few minutes, and then stopped. After a twenty-minute intermission, the session was started again in a drizzle. The last three innings only were played without rain. In spite of the steady downpour, which had started in the early morning, 4,400 people were present when Umps Pfenninger issued the order to play ball.

Graham Swatsmith.

Pat Graham was the bombardment leader for the Crackers in both of their fruitful innings. He added a hit in the eighth, making three for the day, and ended the game in the ninth with a mitt-hand running stab off the bat of Charley Street, an apparently impossible play.

Welchonce was the lad who put the game on ice in the fifth with a rousing triple to deep right with the bases full. Alpermann had previously driven in one counter with a hit to left. Agler worked the pitchers for three bases, Bailey for two.

Smith robbed local batsmen of two hits by knocking down liners at third, one of them leading to a double play. Keating pulled off one double play at shortstop, after Weaver had deflected a terrific line drive from Street's bat. He handled the ball in time to force a runner at second and stop Street at first.

The fielding of the Crackers bristled with brilliant efforts and as the home guard were pulling off largely the same stuff in the field the opener of 1913, despite the one-sided score, will be long remembered hereabouts.

The Crackers were punishing More from the very start of the game, the right hander being less able to control the wet ball than Weaver.

Lookout Triple Play.

Graham started the first fireworks in the third with a sharp single. With the locals up for a bunt and the outfield close in, Weaver cracked one over Elston's head for two bases, and Graham beat the relay home.

The rally was stopped just here by the season's first triple play. Agler walked, Alpermann bunted hard. The signal was on and both runners had big leads. More leaped in the air, caged the ball with one hand. The rest of the play was simple, More throwing to Elberfeld, whose throw beat Agler back to first by an eyelash for the third out.

In the next inning Welchonce got a long single and Long beat a scratch, but Welchonce was caught off third when the double steal was put on.

The big inning was the fifth. Keating beat a high one and Graham, after fouling two bunts, got his second hit, a screamer to center. Weaver bunted, but Street got Keating at third by a great peg. The Crackers were not to be denied. Agler walked, filling the bases. Alpermann's single scored one, leaving the bases still jagged.

Welchonce Clears Bases.

Welchonce then drove a hot one to right, which bounded over Elston's head and counted for three bases. Bailey scorched a double, scoring Welchonce. More was derricked at this juncture and Troy, a Detroit recruit, went in.

The youngster, who is a big right-hander, kept the Crackers on his staff for the rest of the game. He began by fanning Long and Smith in succession and second base was the farthest point the triumphant Crackers reached thereafter.

The Crackers' first of three double plays was started in the first by Smith after King was passed.

The locals' score came in the fifth and Otto Jordan, who probably played his last game as a Lookout, drove it in with a single. Cruise beat a scratch to third and Massey walked, making the run possible on the single. Street ended this dangerous inning when he lined into a brilliant double play.

Weaver pitched out of a hole in the sixth, a base on balls and King's double boding trouble, but only weak grounders followed. In the seventh Gillespie and Jordan singled, but Smith stopped a hot one for a double play.

In the ninth Elston was passed and Gillespie hit, but two went out on easy chances and Graham ended the game with his great catch.

Pelicans 5, Gulls 4.

New Orleans, April 10.—New Orleans defeated Mobile in the inaugural game here today, 5 to 4. Mayor Behrmann pitched the first ball.

A single by Snedecor drove in Hendryx with the winning run in the ninth after two were out, the score having just been tied by Mobile in the first part of the inning. The game was very slow and two accidents marred the pleasure of a record-breaking crowd, Williams wrenching his knee in the sixth inning and McGill being internally injured sliding into third in the ninth. Williams was very wild, and poor support gave Mobile three runs in the third, but the locals tied the score in their half. From then on the battle was desperate, superior hitting finally winning. BUCK WEAVER. PAT GRAHAM.

Orlie Weaver hurled a nice game in the opener. He kept his hits well scattered and was backed by excellent support by his teammates. He drove out a screaming double in the second inning that scored the Crackers' first run. Pat Graham handled Weaver's slants and caught a great game, nailing would-be purloiners frequently. He counted the Crackers' first run on his battery mate's double. Pat had a busy day with that old willow, binging three slashing clouts and counting two tallies.

AMERICAN.

SENATORS 2, YANKEES 0; PRESIDENT AT GAME

Washington, April 10.—President Wilson forgot about the tariff and matters of state for two hours today and watched Washington defeat the New York team of the American league by a score of 2 to 1 in the opening baseball game of the season here. He tossed the first ball from the grandstand, according to custom.

Vice President Marshall, members of the cabinet, senators, representatives and a great number of official folks were there—a notable part of a crowd of 15,000 people who filled the ball park.

Bundled in a heavy fur-lined overcoat, the president sat with his daughter, Miss Eleanor, and Secretary Tumulty in a box to the right of home plate. He was an interested spectator, applauding and cheering frequently as the game proceeded. The weather was raw and the skies cloudy.

Mr. Wilson has always been a baseball "fan," being a frequent visitor at the college games at Princeton and himself a player in his youth. Charles Sterrett, who played first base for New York, was one of his pupils at Princeton three years ago.

The president was cheered enthusiastically by the crowd. He acknowledged the greeting, turned down the brim of his brown, fedora hat and sat down to watch the game.

New York scored in the first inning, when Daniels was hit by a pitched ball, went to second on Gandil's muff of a hot grounder from Wolter, and tallied on Hartzell's single. The Washington team got men on bases frequently after that, but never was able to reap any gain from it until the seventh.

In that inning Ainsmith, the local catcher, was hit by a pitched ball, though Frank Chance, the New York manager, protested from the bench that he had projected his arm deliberately. Shanks got to first safely on a high throw by McConnell, the New York twirler, to Sterrett. McBride sacrificed, advancing both men. Walter Johnson fanned, but Moeller cracked a single to right that scored both runs and gave the Washington team the game.

For an early season game there were few errors and the game did not lack in exciting plays. McConnell, of New York, was hit less frequently than Johnson, but the latter had the better support.

The president stayed throughout the nine innings and then autographed several baseballs for the players.

Athletics 10, Red Sox 9.

Boston, April 10.—The world's champions lost to the Athletics in the opening game of the season today, 9 to 10.

Mayor Fitzgerald put the ball into play from the pitchers' box. Six pitchers followed him during the afternoon. Joe Wood, star of last season's campaign, lasted but five innings, during which the Athletics drove out nine safe hits and scored seven runs. Strunk scored the last of these tallies by stealing home.

Coombs developed poor form after three hitless Boston innings, the Red Sox scoring five runs during his tenure of the mound.

An unusual play occurred in the sixth inning. Lapp was on third and Coombs on second when Murphy hit to Wagner, the latter throwing to the plate to catch Lapp. But Lapp scampered back to third, which he found occupied by Coombs, with Murphy on second. Cady tagged Lapp at third, but as he was entitled to the base he was safe; Coombs returned to second and Murphy moved toward first. Hall threw wild to Janvrin in an effort to catch Murphy. Lapp scored and the other two Athletics again moved up a base each.

Dodgers 11, Phillies 3.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Hard hitting by Brooklyn, which was featured by timely singles by Daubert and a home run by Fisher in the early innings and a three-bagger by Cutshaw in the eighth with the bases filled, gave the visitors the victory in the opening championship game here today 11 to 3.

Ragan was very effective, except in the eighth inning, when Miller and Cravath, pinch hitters, hit safely and scored on sacrifice flies. The cold, cloudy weather kept the attendance down.

DOVES 8, GIANTS 0; HUB PURDUE HURLS

New York, April 10.—Boston defeated New York in the first game of the season here today before a big crowd by a score of 8 to 0. The usual opening day ceremonies were omitted, with the exception that Mayor Gaynor threw out the first ball. Sunless skies and a cold wind made conditions unpleasant alike for players and spectators.

Purdue held the home club at his mercy, and the champions made only two singles. Not one of McGraw's men got further than second base. Boston started to hit Tesreau in the fourth, and from that inning on they rapped the ball hard.

Crandall was slaughtered in the ninth inning. The Braves put up a fine defensive game, giving their pitcher faultless support. Maranville, the recruit shortstop of the visitors, was the bright star of the game, both in the field and at bat.

Boston scored two in the fourth. Maranville walked and stole second when Meyers struck out. Sweeney singled and scored Maranville. Sweeney took second on Burns' throw to the plate, and came home on Titus' single. Boston scored two more in the fifth. Tesreau hit to McKechnie, who scored Rariden when the latter hit a home run into the left field bleachers.

The visitors scored four more runs in the ninth on passes to Rariden and Connolly, hits by Maranville, H. Meyers and Titus, Scha...'s error and Purdue's sacrifice.

COLLEGE GAMES

Macon 2, Gordon 1.

Barnesville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) In a fast, snappy game Macon defeated Gordon this afternoon by the score of 2 to 1. Gordon counted in the first inning and was never able to score again. The game was played in a high wind, which carried many hits into foul territory. For Gordon, Slappey, McWhorter, Kingery and McCord played well, the stop of a hot grounder by McWhorter, with a man on third, being a feature. For Macon Herold, Prysock and OBrien featured.

Sewanee, Tenn., April 10.—(Special.) The second game scheduled between the Sewanee Tigers and the Wolverines to be played today was called off on account of rain. A steady rain set in early and by noon made the field impossible to be played upon, and Manager Bowden called the game off. The Michigan team left this afternoon for Nashville, where they have a series of games scheduled with Vanderbilt unversity.

Auburn 3, Florida 2.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 10.—The first of a series of three games between Auburn and Florida was played here today when Florida was defeated, 3 to 2, in the prettiest game ever played on the local diamond. Batteries—Florida, Shaw and Tenny; Auburn, Davis and Williams.

Alabama 8, Tulane 0.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 10.—(Special.) Alabama again shut out Tulane in the second and last game this afternoon, by the runaway score of 8 to 0. Stevenson held the visitors to two hits only one Tulane man reaching base while the Crimson boys piled up nine. In the fifth inning, four hits, two errors and a walk netted Alabama five runs. Brass Band Is Engaged For Opening Game Here; Ad Men Hire Trucks

To add to the gayety of the occasion, the Atlanta Baseball association has engaged a brass band to dispense music, rag and otherwise, at the opening of the local season Monday afternoon.

The band will parade the streets Monday morning advertising the pastime and by its music reminding the fans of the city that the reputation of Atlanta is at stake.

The Crackers want that opening day attendance trophy. Birmingham and Chattanooga, former winners, have poked fun at us long enough. It behooves local fans to attend the opening game in such numbers that when the official paid attendance of the eight cities is announced the local fans can sit back and laugh at all the others.

All Together.

Atlanta can land the big attendance trophy. But it will require the co-operation of every fan, merchant and clerk in town. If you cannot go and know a friend who is off for the afternoon, but who has not figured on going to the pastime, use your influence to get him to attend.

If half of those that have promised to attend will only carry out their promises Atlanta will land the prize sure. Will you do it? Get the spirit. And you are promised a fine afternoon's enjoyment with it all.

Ten big automobile trucks will carry the Atlanta Ad Men's club to the opening game of the Southern league at Ponce de Leon park next Monday. In addition to a mammoth delegation a committee from the Ad Men's club is busy urging business men to attend the game and let their employees attend.

The Ad Men were injected into the baseball situation yesterday when President Callaway addressed the club at its weekly luncheon. He appealed to them to help win the trophy for Atlanta, and met with an enthusiastic response.

Committee Meets Today.

President Goodhart of the Ad Men's club appointed a committee which met immediately after lunch and perfected plans for carrying one of the largest delegations to the game. The Ad club has never met with failure in any of its undertakings and promised to do its part toward winning the trophy for Atlanta.

The Ad Men and their friends will meet at the Johnson-Gewinner company, on Peachtree street, opposite the Candler building, Monday afternoon. Ten or more big automobile trucks will be in readiness for them and they promise to make some noise and create no little enthusiasm.

In the meantime committees are busy making business men promise to go to the game and also agree to let their employees go. President Callaway will reserve 200 seats for the Ad Men and every one of these seats will be occupied by an Atlanta rooter.

Rochester opens the season in Baltimore, and the team president believes that he can swing McMillan into line.

TY COBB AWAITS WORD FROM CLUB

"If I Am Worth What I Ask I Ought to Get It," Says Star, "and I'm in Shape for the Game."

Augusta, Ga., April 10.—Ty Cobb tonight said he is waiting in Augusta for definite announcement from President Navin, of the Detroit club, relative to "a certain proposition" recently made the Detroit management, but he declined to divulge the terms of his demand, simply saying that it is none of the public's business. Further than being here in waiting, he says he has made no other plans preparatory to reporting to Manager Jennings.

Demands Not High.

"When President Navin accepts my offer I will report at once, and am in shape to jump right into the game," he said. "My demands are not exorbitant, and President Navin has told me that I am worth all I ask, but the Detroit management is unable to meet the salary demands. If I am worth it," Cobb said, "I ought to be paid what I ask."

He emphatically denies that any kind of agreement, tentative or otherwise, has been reached between him and the Detroit officials, and that the Detroit president has made no late offers to him, he says. The fact that he has called off the games scheduled for his team of volunteers, he says, should not be taken to mean that he has reached any decision.

Friends Know Little.

Cobb will be in the city tomorrow, but he declined to say whether he would stay longer. Cobb has confided little or none to even his closest friends, and nothing of his possible plans and intentions can be learned from them. Some of his intimate associates go so far as to assert that the matter will be satisfactory settled within a short time.

He is evidently anxious to get into the game again with his Detroit teammates, but feels that he is justifiable in his course, and will wait longer in hopes of an amicable settlement. He says he has a great personal regard for the Detroit club's president and manager, and his holdout is not a personal, but a business matter.

Visible disappointment was shown on Ty've face with the result of the game between the Detroit and St. Louis Americans when the newspaper man told him the score in reply to his interogation. He made no comment, but showed on his face the disappointment he felt.

SMALLPOX SCARE

Minneapolis Players Taken to Isolation Hospital.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 10.—The smallpox scare among the ball players of the Minneapolis club, of the American association, has about died out. Late today physicians of the city health department made a thorough investigation of the team and declared there was no cause for apprehension.

Ralph Comstock, the pitcher who was taken to the pesthouse early today, has a very mild attack of the disease. He had not been with the other players since Friday night, coming away from Hickman, Ky., at the same time the remainder of the team left for Memphis. One or two players who had accompanied Comstock are under observation and the vaccination of the players will be confined solely to those who have been in contact with Comstock. All the baggage of the team was fumigated this afternoon.

Cubs Worried.

Chicago, April 10.—Members of the Chicago National Baseball club were disturbed today when told that smallpox had broken out among the Minneapolis players. The latter used the visitors' dressing rooms at the locals' club house here Tuesday when they played an exhibition game.

WALTER JOHNSON GETS RAISE NEXT SEASON

Washington, April 10.—(Special.)—Walter Johnson, the great right-hander of the Washington Americans, is going to be the highest-priced twirler in baseball next season.

Johnson's contract calling for $7,000 a season runs out this year, and the Big Swede has made it known that he intends to win such a number of games this year that the club owners will have to make his yearly stipend $10,000 in the future.

Local sport writers are a unit in declaring Walter will get every penny he asks for.

FASTER BALL GAMES IN BAN'S LEAGUE

Chicago, April 10.—Faster baseball than has ever been seen is promised for 1913 by President Johnson, of the American league.

"An attempt will be made this year to see that the games are played in less time than in former years," said Johnson today. "The umpires have been instructed to see that little time is wasted, and the managers will cooperate to cut off the minutes which mark the difference between the short, snappy game and the one which is long drawn out, and which loses much of its charm and interest because of that fact."

GIANTS SEND THREE TO MOBILE GULLS

New York, April 19.—Manager McGraw, of the New York National League Baseball club, reduced his team to the twenty-five players' limit today by releasing Infielder Milton Stock, Pitcher Dave Robertson and Outfielder Jacobson, to Mobile, Ala. FULTON COUNTY FEES REPORTED AT $12,703.80

Among the reports filed by county officials yesterday with the comptroller general under the new state law was that of the tax collector of Fulton county, A. P. Stewart. The report showed the total amount collected in fees during the month of January, February and March of this year to be $12,703.80. His expenses for the same time was $3,262.52. He states in his report that the receipts will fall off during the balance of the year and that what he has already collected will amount to at least three-fourths of the year's receipts.

The ordinary of Fulton county, John R. Wilkinson, has made no report, as he takes the position that no report is required until the case before the supreme court, testing the validity of the law, has been decided.

Tax Receiver T. M. Armistead reports that so far he has received no fees this year.

Among the statehouse officials who have made reports were:

J. O. Anderson, chief clerk of the state treasurer, $805.75; Logan Bleckley, clerk court of appeals, $96.30; B. F. Johnson, clerk secretary of state, $37; Z. D. Harrison, clerk supreme court, $144.75.

ICE PLANT EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR EMPLOYEES

Pensacola, Fla., April 10.—Four men were killed early today by the explosion of an ammonia boiler at one of the plants of the Moore ice works. The plant was partially demolished. Fumes from the escaping ammonia overcome several firemen who attempted to enter the wrecked building.

The force of the explosion shattered windows for half a dozen blocks around, and startled people from their beds 5 miles away.

The dead:

W. H. VANCEL, chief engineer.
C. J. FLOYD, night engineer.
JAMES PIERCE, laborer.
SAM HOWARD, colored, oiler.

Pierce's head was blown from his body, and has not been found. All four men are believed to have met instant death.

The boiler contained nearly 2,000 gallons of ammonia.

FOUR AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION

Washington, April 10.—Four constitutional amendments were proposed today in the house.

One by Representative Hobson would provide direct election of president and vice president; that candidates be nominated by direct primaries and elected for a single term of seven years. Another by Representative Bartholdt would limit the tenure of office for the president to two terms of four years each.

Representative Kahn proposed a constitutional amendment giving congress power to grant, protect and regulate the exclusive right to adopt and use trade marks.

Representative Neely proposed an amendment to provide for popular election of United States district judges every six years.

IS PRACTICAL JOKER

DINH GILLY,
Atlanta favorite, who will be heard again this spring.

WITH THE THEATERS

Neil O'Brien Minstrels.

(At the Atlanta.)

Tonight Atlanta will greet Neil O'Brien in his capacity as minstrel star in his own company of black face comedians. They play at the Atlanta theater and will be here for two nights and a Saturday matinee. With O'Brien are a number of well-known players who do much towards making his company's work satisfactory. O'Brien is himself one of the funniest men ever seen on an Atlanta stage, and stands at the top of minstrel men in fame. He has long been the chief funmaker of companies under other managements, but this is his first season at the head of his own company. The Knights of Columbus will attend in a body tonight, O'Brien being a prominent member of that organization.

"Between Showers."

(At the Lyric.)

"Mistaken Identity," that field that furnishes farce comedy, again does its duty in "Between Showers," which comes to the Lyric theater commencing next Monday night. It has a series of humorous complications, and surprises and keeps everybody in good humor, with scarcely a serious moment in the entire entertainment. The principal comedy honor is particularly adapted to Mr. Grapewin, who is well supported by an all-star cast, including Mike Donlin, of baseball fame, and Miss Anna Chance, the well-known dainty comedienne. This farce has been staged in an elaborate manner.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom."

(At the Lyric.)

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," a revival of which is being offered at the Lyric this week, has been greeted by lovers of melodrama in large numbers. Tonight, "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" will be the bill, and for tomorrow afternoon and night, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" will be resumed. Everyone knows the story of this old play, and it is only necessary to say that the company presenting it is a capable one in every role, and the performance thoroughly enjoyable from every viewpoint.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

There are but four more performances of the present bill at the Grand, and if the attendance holds up the last of the week in keeping with the first, all attendance records of the season will be broken. Commencing with matinee on Monday, the Grand will present the first of its big shows of the season. There will be nine acts, and with the Pathe pictures and the Grand orchestra there will be 11 numbers that will contribute to the entertainment of the theatergoers.

This is the first time in the history of vaudeville that a big bill has been offered. The program has been limited to seven numbers and pictures, but next week will see nine acts, not a one conflicting with the other, and will introduce some of the best features of the Keith circuit.

SOUTHERN FIREMAN LOSES LEG IN ACCIDENT

David M. Strickland, fireman on an eastbound Southern railway freight train, lost one of his legs just below the knee last night, in an accident which occurred while the train was pulling through Inman yards at 7:15 o'clock. He was taken to the Atlanta hospital in Patterson's motor ambulance, and it is said that he will recover. Details of the accident were not given in the railroad report, as the crew stopped only long enough to secure another fireman.

The injured man lives at 25 McDonough street, and is 29 years old and married.

DINH GILLY AFTER CARUSO'S LAURELS AS CHIEF JOKER

Caruso's reputation as the jokester of the Metropolitan Opera company is seriously menaced by Dinh Gilly, the Arabian baritone, who will sing in Atlanta again this year.

On stage and off the ebullient spirits of the son of the desert add life and zest to the performance, often send the chorus into giggles, and add many a human touch of which the audience is unaware. One story is told by Richard Hagemann, the eminent conductor, who is a great friend of Gilly.

"Gilly had been in great spirits one night, all the singers and the chorus were watching to see what he would do next," says Mr. Hagemann. "His great aria, 'E forgia' began just when the tenor, in this case Riccardo Martin, was brought in for trial. Gilly pointed dramatically at the prisoner, standing in full armor, with gilded spurs, and sang with wonderful dramatic power:

"'He forgot his rubbers.' The chorus nearly had hysterics, and only a lively ensemble scene just then saved the act. But the audience never knew it, even though it was raining hard outside."

Mr. Gilly is a favorite with Atlanta audiences, owing to the power of his voice and the ability of his acting, which is far above the standard of most artists, who depend on voice alone to win them fame. He is also an ardent lover of outdoor sports, and a broken nose still reminds him of his boxing days in Paris.

NEWSOME REINSTATED AFTER ELECTION ROW

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—C. H. Newsome, the Eatonton boy, suspended by the faculty of the University of Georgia, has been reinstated to the senior class upon his relinquishing all the student offices to which he had been elected. He was not required to make a public apology, but merely had his name replaced on his class roll when he resigned his offices, the chief of which was business manager of the athletic association. He was charged with "stuffing the ballot box in a recent election.

MAN AND WOMAN SAVED FROM BURNING HOME

Macon Couple Were Ill in Bed and Had to Be Borne Out by Neighbors.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Maddox, of 446 Rice street, were rescued from their burning home this morning by the timely arrival of neighbors. Both were sick in bed, and when fire broke out in the adjoining house occupied by Robert Moore they were unable to get out of the house unassisted.

The roof of their house was blazing fiercely when neighbors rushed in and bore the couple to the homes of neighbors. Mrs. Maddox is in a serious condition as a result of the shock. Both houses were burned to the ground.

Work for tate Fair.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Six counties have already announced they will have exhibits at the state fair this year, and President John T. Williams, of the Georgia Agricultural society, says he expects more county exhibits this year than ever before. He has recently completed a trip through the state, and declares that he finds the farmers looking forward to the fair this year with much anticipation.

Bank Builds Soon.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The Macon Savings bank has purchased from Jesse H. Hall the lot at Third and Wall streets for $33,000, and will within a short time erect a handsome bank building there. The bank recently increased its capital stock to $200,000.

Milk Inspection Planned.

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Macon is to have two food inspectors, one of whom will devote his entire time to the inspection of milk sold throughout the city.

F. H. Kellar has found it impossible to keep up with the work by himself, and the board of health has elected George W. Bailey assistant inspector.

Coincident with the election of the new inspector the board has also taken steps looking to the stopping of the sale of impure ice cream. In the future no ice cream is to be sold on the street in bulk. The sale of ice cream cones is also prohibited anywhere in the city. Other ice cream will be inspected.

WARE IS UNDECIDED ABOUT NEW COUNTIES

Waycross, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) Just which of the several new county schemes will meet the most favor in Waycross has not been determined.

The board of trade committee on new counties is not yet committed to any movement, but has heard from quite a number of people who are interested in the formation of new counties that include a slice of Ware territory.

Alma has sent delegations here to confer with the committee and with the county commissioners. The latter will take no action until the attitude of the board of trade is known. Dr. G. P. Folks has been named chairman of the new county committee, Vice W. W. Lambdin, resigned. He is also a county commissioner. The Hardeman county scheme includes about 25,000 acres of Ware county. Nicholls wants not quite as much, while the movement which started at Pearson has recently eliminated Ware entirely.

A report on whether Ware will fight the movements or agree to a small portion of her land going to one of the new counties now proposed will probably be made by next Monday, when the county commissioners will take action on the subject.

DOGS OF STATE SHOULD BRING MILLION REVENUE

After making the statement that there are fully a half million dogs in Georgia, State Game Keeper Mercer said yesterday to a reporter of The Constitution that he had a plan whereby the state's revenue could be easily increased one million dollars.

"The people generally may not know it," stated Captain Mercer, "but it is nevertheless true that Georgia's dog population will reach the half million mark. I took a dog census last year and while not actually counting every dog, I had sufficient data upon which to base a very close estimate. In Whitfield county alone there are 4,200 dogs; and do you know that the number of dogs upon which taxes are paid in that county is only 375?"

The question of dog tax brought out the game-keepers' million-dollar revenue plan.

"Dogs should be taxed at least a dollar a head," he stated, "for if a dog isn't worth that much, he isn't worth anything, and the dogs of this state are a source of the greatest destruction.

"Dogs not looked after or left to the care of negroes get hungry and go out after birds. They destroy the eggs of the quail and eat up the young. More qual are killed in this way every year by dogs than are shot by the hunters.

"To increase the state's revenues a million of dollars I would tax the dogs and then charge a license for fishing. The fishermen are anxious to pay a small license of 75 cents or a dollar a year. This would help the fishermen and help the fish.

"Then I would repeal that section of the game law which permits a man to hunt without license within his own militia district. That exemption is a great temptation to men to hunt where they please and take chances on getting caught. From the three sources I have mentioned we would derive at least a million dollars a year and work no hardship on anybody, while, at the same time doing some good."

Captain Mercer said that the receipts from the hunting tax now amounts to about $20,000 a year, while it takes only $10,000 to run his department. The surplus goes to the public schools. Hunters pay $3 to hunt anywhere in the state, $1 to hunt in a single county. The man who hunts within his own militia district pays nothing.

If the world always accepted a man at his own valuation, even cheap skates would soon be classed with the precious metals.

No need to stay in the house if it doesn't suit. You can find a better one through The Constitution's Classified.

Advertising drives the wheels of trade

Ever watch a kettle boil? Consider the process.

You fill it with water and place it over the flame. Slowly but surely the flame heats the metal of the kettle. The heat is transmitted to the water and it boils.

Suppose you turned down the flame at intervals. Take longer to boil the water, wouldn't it? Suppose you turned the flame out at intervals. Take still longer, wouldn't it?

Same way with advertising. You put an ad in the paper and it commands attention. Put another in the next day and attention changes to interest. Keep this up and interest changes to permanent desire. You create a steady volume of trade just as the steady flame finally boils the water.

Put an ad in when you feel like it and you'll get business in the same ratio. "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success." That's the motto of an advertising agency known the world over. Pretty good one, don't you think?

Why not try it out in The Constitution. Start tomorrow and keep everlastingly at it. Keep the flame of advertising plying on the people and business will boil over like the water in the kettle.

Belle Isle

Ivy 5190. Atlanta 1598.

"OH, SELL THE BLAMED THING."

PA BARKED his shins on a rocking chair. Been in the way for several years. The chair wasn't needed. And there was really no room for it anywhere in the house.

"HOW?"

Asked mother. "I don't know of any one who wants to buy the chair, and I don't feel like giving it away. It cost us money, and it's almost as good as new."

"USE THE CONSTITUTION'S CLASSIFIED,"

Said pa. "Other people are buying, selling and exchanging through that paper. They would not be paying good, hard-earned money for want ads if they didn't do some good. Here's a dollar; try it out"—

AND MOTHER DID

She described that rocking chair fully, in plain terms, and phoned the ad to this paper. Second day the chair was sold. And mother bought steak with the rest of the dollar.

Tomorrow, at 2:30 o'clock, we will hold an auction and offer for sale 32 lots and a six-room bungalow, located on Tupelo, Oak Ridge and Spence streets. The subdivision is located only two blocks from the East Lake club grounds.

The vacant lots will be sold on terms of $100 cash and $10 per month, 7 per cent interest. The bungalow will be sold on terms of $250 cash and $25 per month, 7 per cent interest.

In going out to attend this sale, take the East Lake car and get off at the club grounds, or take a South Decatur car and get off at East Lake Drive.

Nearly all of the lots that comprise this subdivision lie nicely and will make beautiful sites for the erection of a home in this desirable locality.

We extend a special invitation to the ladies to attend this sale.

IN MIDDLE OF STREET GREEK IS SHOT DOWN

Man With Serious Wound in Abdomen Has No Idea of His Assailant's Identity.

Fired upon from ambuscade, Mitchell Costello, a wealthy Greek confectioner of Birmingham, was shot in the abdomen about 10:30 last night as he walked down West Alabama street near fire headquarters.

He was carried to Grady Hospital. The bullet ranged between the outer flesh and ribs of the right side, and the wound will not be serious. To detectives who questioned him as he lay upon the operating table, Costello declared that he did not know his assailant nor had ever seen him until the time he was shot.

His story was that he was going to the Terminal hotel, at which he was stopping while on a short trip to Atlanta, and walked down Alabama street. As he passed fire headquarters, a man jumped from the shadows of an alley and fired four shots in Costello's direction, escaping in the railway yards across the street.

Costello walked to the fire station and asked for an ambulance. He could not explain the attack, except that his assailant had lain in ambush for another man, and had mistaken the confectioner for his quarry.

Costello is well-known among Atlanta Greeks. He operates a flourishing confectionery establishment in Birmingham, and visits this city frequently. He would not explain to the detectives his mission in coming here.

LITTLE ITEMS OF GEORGIA CITIES

Augusta Cop Tried.

August, Ga., April 10.—J. Youngblood, who was elected to the police force several days ago, was tried in recorder's court here for engaging in a barroom brawl two hours before his election. He has not been allowed to do active police duty. The matter will be investigated by the police commissioners.

Huge Still Found.

Cartersville, Ga., April 10.—One of the largest illicit distilling outfits ever captured in this section was brought to town by the revenue officers Tuesday afternoon. It was undoubtedly the "belle of the woods" and was a most unique looking affair. The officers making the raid were anxious to have a picture of the monstrosity and brought it fifteen miles in a wagon. A large quantity of beer, etc., was destroyed and over one hundred gallons of mountain dew poured out.

Drainage in Gwinnett.

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—A petition was filed in the court this week for the Sweetwater drainage district, the second of the kind in Gwinnett county. The lands sought to be reclaimed lie along Sweetwater, Beaver Run and Jackson creeks, a few miles west of Lawrenceville. This will embrace a larger territory than the Haynes creek district, now under construction. About 2,500 acres of land will be reclaimed in the last proposed district. The number of land owners will be about thirty, and they hope to get their petition through and begin dredging early in the fall.

New Lawrenceville Station.

Lawrenceville, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Superintendent G. R. Carlton and Engineer Artman, of the Seaboard railway, were in Lawrenceville yesterday and made a survey of a site for a new passenger depot in Lawrenceville. The new station will be of veneered pressed brick, with French tile roof, and containing all modern conveniences. A shed with a cement walk will extend from the station to the main line of track. The building will cost about $8,000. The Lawrenceville branch of the Southern railway will also begin at once the erection of a new depot, facing Clayton street. The present station will be used for a freight depot.

C. G. Blackwell Elected.

Lafayette, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) C. G. Blackwell, of Green Bush, one of the prominent young business men of the county, has been elected assistant cashier of the First National bank at this place. He will succeed C. F. Dalton, who resigned some weeks ago to accept the cashiership of the Bank of Haralson, at Haralson, Ga.

One Dead, Another Dying.

LaGrange, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) In a general family row this afternoon, one negro is dead and another dying. Cicero Revis, Jr., shot and killed his stepmother, and in a general fight which followed, Cicero's sister, Annie, fatally stabbed her stepbrother, Rufus Montgomery, with a pick. All the negroes have heretofore been quiet and law-abiding and regared as of the better class.

As a general thing a lazy man doesn't believe in any kind of luck except bad.

UNITARIANS CONVENE IN ANNUAL SESSION

Feature of Opening Session Address by President Charles H. Patterson, of New Orleans.

The southern conference of the Unitarian church met in Atlanta Thursday afternoon for its twenty-fifth annual session.

The opening meeting was held at the Universalist church at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. This was a business session, the feature of which was the annual address of President Charles H. Patterson, of New Orleans, whose talk was in the nature of a president's report and suggestions. Rev. John W. Rowlett, former pastor of the Atlanta church and secretary of the conference, also made his report.

At this meeting the Unitarians were welcomed to Atlanta by John L. Moore, whose welcome was responded to by Rev. George Kent, of New Orleans, in behalf of the visitors.

Rev. Kent delivered a sermon at the Woman's Club building, on Baker street, Thursday night. The subject of his remarks was "The Joy and Strength of Pilgrimage."

There will be a business session at the Woman's Club building Friday morning. At 11 o'clock, following the business meeting, Rev. Albert Manchester, of Boston, Mass., will deliver a special address. The Woman's National alliance will meet in the club building Friday afternoon.

The conference will last through Sunday. All the remaining meetings will be held in the Woman's Club building.

COST OF PRODUCING A POUND OF SUGAR

Washington, April 10.—The average cost of producing a pound of sugar in Louisiana was 4.39 cents in 1911; in 1910 it was 3.72 and in 1909 it was 3.62 cents, as shown by an investigaion by the department of commerce, the result of which was made public today by Secretary Redfield. The high cost in 1911, it was explained, was due to the severe freeze, which reduced the average yield of sugar per ton of cane ground to 133 pounds that year, whereas in 1910 it was 147 pounds and in 1909 was 156 pounds.

A comparison for five years of Cuban and certain Louisiana factories is made to show that the yield in Cuba was 229.3 pounds per ton of cane and 161.9 in Louisiana. The sucrose in extraction juice was 16 per cent in Cuba and 11.5 in Louisiana. Both agricultural and factory costs are given. The average cost of producing a ton of cane ready for the factory in 1911 was $4; in 1910 it was $3.30 and in 1909 was $4.15. In the factories the cost of production per ton of cane ground was $5.84 in 1911; in 1910 it was $5.49 and in 1909 was $5.65.

FROM FOOT OF A GIRL HE STOLE A SLIPPER

New York, April 10.—The slipper snatcher who stole a pump from the foot of a Bronx girl while she was ascending the stairs of a subway station on Monday has either set out to make a collection of low shoes or else set an example which others are following.

A second theft of the kind occurred last night when Selma Graft, a 15-year-old high school student, was tripped up by a tug on her shoe on the subway stairs. She turned around just in time to catch a fleeting glimpse of her slipper disappearing into the pocket of a man about .. years of age, who was running down the stairs and who escaped in a train, despite the young woman's cries. Miss Graft was helped to a shoe store, where she equipped herself with a pair of high-laced shoes which she declared she would wear until the mysterious slipper thief is caught.

RECOGNITION GIVEN TO THE PROGRESSIVES

Washington, April 10.—Representative Chandler, selected as the progressive member on the rules committee, declined today to serve and Representative Kelley was named for the place. Representative Woodruff was named for the progressive place on accounts and Representative Thomson for the place on enrolled bills.

The progressive conference will meet tomorrow to take up details of the legislative program. Bills providing for direct election of president and vice president, a simple mode of amending the federal constitution and various social reforms will be prepared.

NEW BANK LAWS URGED BY GEORGIA BANKERS

Convention in Washington Favors Creation of Separate Banking Department.

Washington, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Going on record as unanimously favoring the proposed bill which will create a banking department of Georgia to be entirely divorced from the office of the state treasurer, 1,000 bankers, representing group two of the Georgia Bankers' association, held a most successful and profitable convention here today. The features of the meeting were strong addresses made by Benjamin W. Hunt, president of the Georgia Bankers' association, in which new banking legislation was strongly urged as a means of preventing bank failures, and a notable address by Joseph A. McCord, of Atlanta, member of the legislative committee of the Georgia Bankers' association, upon the subject, "The Present Money Stringency and Its Remedy."

Mr. McCord stated that the present mode of living causes money stringency, and that if Georgia farmers continued to raise only cotton, while neglecting to produce the necessities of life, that the people of Georgia in five years would be overwhelmingly in debt, and bank loans in Georgia would be honeycombed. He apologized that his address might sound more like an address to farmers than to business men, but declared that bankers were largely responsible for present conditions by favoring cotton as bank collateral. He was given a rising vote of thanks at the conclusion of his address.

After the business meeting of the convention had been dispatched, the bankers were entertained with a Georgia barbecue as the guests of the Washington Clearing House association.

Thomson, Ga., was selected for the next place of meeting, and the following officers were named: J. T. Neal, of Thomson, chairman; J. G. Craft, of Hartwell, vice chairman; J. F. Lee, of Forsyth, secretary.

The visiting bankers left for their homes this afternoon. About thirty left for Atlanta tonight and will take in the group meeting in Marietta Friday morning.

will be great assets in persuading the Shriners' convention to come to Atlanta in 1914.

The other skyscrapers are in rapid course of construction.

The Ponce de Leon Apartments are now complete, but for some interior work. The steel work of the Hurt building stands three stories above the street level. The roof is going on the new Fulton county courthouse. And sounds and smoke indicate to one passing on the street that there is something going on in the bottom of Healy's hole.

April Realty Board Meeting.

The April meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate board will be held at Cafe Durand on the night of April 18.

The feature of this meeting will be an address by A. F. Coles, vice president of the Central Bank and Trust company, upon real estate from the standpoint of the banker. H. W. Dews, sales manager of the Willingham agency, will be the host.

There will also be a discussion of plans for an Atlanta delegation of realty men to attend the national realty convention at Winnipeg next July 28 to 30. M. C. Kiser is in charge of local arrangements.

City Buys Property.

S. B. Turman, of Turman, Black & Calhoun, was appointed purchasing agent by the water board of the city of Atlanta to buy the property on the Howell Mill road abutting the two reservoirs. There are two sets of property, one on the west side and one on the east side.

Mr. Turman has succeeded in closing the trade for all the properties on the southwest side of Howell Mill road and extending west to the new reservoir, the deed having been delivered to the city. The four properties were owned by Preston, Carroll, King and Clark. The total amount of these purchases was $11,040.

"TONGS" ARE DEFINED BY CHINESE MERCHANT

San Francisco, April 10.—Lai Wing Yew, Chinese consul general, voluntarily gave testimony at the Tong inquiry today. He declared that if officials here, in order to put an end to Tong warfare, would break up the Tong organizations, the Chinese government would approve the action. He added that his government would cooperate with federal officials in the effort to disband the Tongs, which are not permitted to exist in China, he said.

"What is the Chinese Tong?" he was asked.

He said that originally a Tong was a form of family organization created to aid members in a benevolent manner, but he added that they had fallen into bad purposes here, and he said many good merchants had been forced into Tong membership as a matter of protection.

"I think that deportation would be a good method of breaking them up," he added.

The inquiry officially is an inquest in connection with the murder of a victim in the present Tong war.

"ALL WOOL" FAKES FOUGHT BY MURDOCK

Washington, April 10.—Representative Murdock, progressive leader in the house, wants clothing manufacturers who mark goods "all wool" when they are not, fined and jailed. FAIR FREIGHT RATES ASKED BY ATLANTANS

Fight for Competitive Rates Starts Today Before Interstate Commerce Commision.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, April 10.—(Special.)—"We ask for Atlanta fair competitive rates, and we will take our chances with any city in the country," said W. A. Wimbish tonight in discussing the rate case brought by the Atlanta Freight Bureau to correct discriminations against Atlanta in favor of Birmingham and Chattanooga.

Colonel Wimbish will appear before the interstate commerce commission tomorrow to argue the case. Accompanying him are Harry Moore, of the Atlanta Freight Bureau; Sam D. Jones, president of the Atlanta Stove Works, and W. A. Parker, secretary of the Beck & Gregg Hardware company.

On shipments from Cincinnati to Birmingham a rate of 89 cents is charged, but the rate is 98 cents to Atlanta, which is equally distant. This is alleged to be a discrimination.

In the other class, rates from the east, Atlanta pays $1.05 a hundred pounds on shipments from north Atlantic ports, and Chattanooga, which is 138 miles further by the water and rail haul, enjoys a similar rate. From interior points in Mississippi, Pennsylvania and the east, the rail-water-and-rail rate to Atlanta via Savannah is $1.13, but the all-rail rate to Chattanooga is $1.09, giving the Tennessee city a preferential rate of 4 cents a hundred pounds.

Colonel Wimbish and the Atlanta Freight Bureau complain that this difference is unjust, and further attack the rate as excessive for the service rendered.

MUST PRODUCE MAN OR FORFEIT $5,000 BOND

YOUNG GIRLS' PROBLEMS CONSIDERED BY Y. W. C. A.

Richmond, Va., April 10.—Problems affecting the welfare of young girls were discussed at the fourth biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian association here today. How the association hopes to deal with them was briefly explained by Miss Mabel Gratty, general secretary of the national board. "Two things with which we contend," said Miss Gratty, "are conditions and sin, and there is a constant interplay between these two factors. We must make the conditions under which women live safe; we must educate their sense of values and help them to get their bearings among the circumstances of modern life."

"Different causes contribute to the growing disinclination to marriage among both men and women," said Mrs. S. J. Murtland. "Business opportunities have made women more independent. The stress of competition and the demands of more expensive standards of living have made it increasingly difficult for men to marry. Such signs of the times, with the rapid increase in divorce and the scarcity of real homes, must claim the consideration of every thinking woman."

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON WAS LOWER AT MARKET'S CLOSE

Favorable Weather in South Main Factor in the Decline—Spot Quiet.

New York, April 10.—The cotton market was lower today, owing to prospects for more favorable weather in the south and reports that the crest of the flood tide had passed through the river at Memphis. The close was steady, but at practically the lowest and from 13 to 17 points under the final figures of last night.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 4 points, in sympathy with lower cables. Reports that there had been a further rise in the Mississippi river at Memphis overnight and that there had been a serious break in the levee at Wilson, Ark., combined with further rains in the central belt seemed to be bringing in a good many buying orders during the early trading. Fluctuations were consequently somewhat irregular, but there was plenty of cotton for sale, owing to the predictions of clearing weather in the belt and the market soon turned easier. Reports from Memphis that the river was beginning to fall at that point were accompanied by sellings and as prices here worked lower local traders expressed the opinion that the water in the flooded sections would rapidly recede. A preliminary crop report issued by a southern expert, indicating that preliminary conditions were better than the average over 85 per cent of the belt and about normal over the balance, probably added to the confidence of sellers, while there were also favorable private crop reports from Alabama and Texas. Covering checked the decline from time to time, but nothing more than slight rallies occurred and the market was rather nervous and unsettled in the late trading.

According to local spot handlers the recent figures of world's mills' stocks of American cotton suggest that consumption this season will not exceed 14,500,000 bales and possibly the tendency to reduce estimates of requirements, combined with uncertainty as to the effect of tariff legislation, was a factor in the selling movement. Spot house brokers were among the sellerds of old crop months, but there seemed to be a considerable demand for May at a premium of 2 points over July.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.50; do. gulf 12.75; sales, 100 bales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, April 10.—Cotton market reacted today from the upward movement that has been taking place in values for some time past. Heavy liquidation on the long side, coupled with more or less short selling, put prices down. From the middle of the session on, selling was stimulated by rumors of a marked fall in the river at Memphis, which proved to be without foundation. The market was active and a large volume of business was transacted. At the close, opinion was more evenly divided than it had been for many days past.

On the opening, the tone was steady and prices were 3 to 6 points down. Liverpool was not up to expectations and offerings were heavy, although short sales were restricted, to some extent, by the great amount of rain that fell overnight in the Mississippi valley. The crevasse reported below Memphis first had a steadying effect on the market, but afterwards it was stated that the crevasse was lowering the river to a marked extent. The decline was gradual, the forecast of more rain east of the Mississippi and of frost in the western belt helping the bull side. In the afternoon, the market had an easy undertone, and the lowest stood 14 to 16 points down.

The close was steady at a net loss of 14 to 15 points.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, April 10.—Notwithstanding further rains over the central belt and reports of rising rivers in that section, which will delay the planting season, the general demand failed to broaden today and when selling appeared through several spot houses, prices gave way. Business was not large in volume and buyers of yesterday were disappointed at the lack of demand and resold during the day.

GOOD CROP REPORTS MADE WHEAT DECLINE

Prices Closed at Loss of One-Quarter to Five-Eighths Cent—Corn Also Off.

Chicago, April 10.—A net loss of ¼ to ⅝ was suffered by wheat today on the most enthusiastic crop reports that have reached the trade in some weeks. There was a decline of ½ to ⅝ in corn; oats finished unchanged to ¼ lower, and provisions 5 lower to 2½ up.

Wheat crop experts wired that the biggest yield on record was in prospect in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. Kansas was said to be a garden spot, and the great wheat-raising counties of Nebraska were said to be smooth and green like well-kept lawns. These rosy reports were made further effective on the bear side by general snows in Kansas and Nebraska which, following recent soaking rains, made growing prospects ideal. Prospects of large world's shipments and an increase in the shipments from Argentina of 2,008,000 bushels over last year also counted against the bulls, though they made stubborn resistance until the close. Primary wheat receipts were 531,000 bushels, compared with 253,000 a year ago. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 200,000 bushels.

A selling drive in corn, made on the discovery that one of the big houses had sold moderately, caused prices to decline. The market early in the day had been firm and active because of general wet weather and consequent delay to field work and the marketing. Rains, which indicate a cutting down of seeding of oats, caused an early firmness, which was wiped out later on profit-taking.

A fair investment demand caused a firm undertone in provisions. Offerings were light and, at the close, demand slackened also, and there was a general easing off in sympathy with grains.

London Stock Market.

London, April 10.—The stock market maintained a fairly good tone under investment buying. Speculative issues closed easy. The American department was firm and stocks were in fair demand during the early session, but New York offerings in the afternoon caused recessions. The market closed easy.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, April 10.—Today the temper of the traders became more pessimistic than ever on a statement from Habersham King that 85 per cent of the preparations for the new crop were ahead of last year. Nearly all who bought yesterday turned sellers today on this report and also on the action of the southern spinners in passing a resolution that the proposed tariff meant ruin to them. In fact, the atmosphere became blue and the market declined some 16 points. Possibly a democratic congress may ruin the southern cotton mills, but we doubt it, because we think the congressmen will take care of their constituences or be defeated next election. The breaks in the levees on the Arkansas side relieved the situation at Memphis, but with the flood coming down the Arkansas, the situation south of Memphis is most dangerous. Nevertheless, the traders tonight see no hope for the market and we are again amongst the very few who think the spindles will continue to use a very large amount of cotton.

WILSON IS REQUESTED TO FIGHT TAMMANY

Washington, April 10.—President Wilson was formally requested today by anti-Tammany leaders of the New York state democracy not to recognize Tammany in federal appointments. They explained that their organization needed the moral support of the administration in its fight for progressive principles.

They went away with the impression that the president would go slow in the matter of making out his appointment list.

STOCKS IRREGULAR MOST OF THE SESSION

Net Changes on Day Were Small—European Buying Was Heavy.

New York, April 10.—Movements of stocks today were irregular and speculative sentiment was confused. The alternate periods of advancing and declining prices represented little more than the momentary response to activities of professional traders, who appeared to have the market in their own hands. Trading was dull much of the day, and displayed a lack of initiative, in the absence of new impulses from any quarter. On the upward swings, gains of a point or more were made by some of the leading issues and on the declines there were corresponding losses. Net changes on the day were small. Pennsylvania at 114½; New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio all touched new low points for the year. Selling of Pennsylvania was carried on heavily at times following yesterday's announcement of a new issue of stock.

The decline of 187,000 tons of unfilled orders shown by the Steel Corporation in its monthly report had no effect on the stock, such a decrease having been clearly forecast. That the figures fell off less than 200,000 tons indicated that orders continued heavy last month.

European buying of stocks here continued. London's purchases today were about 30,000 shares, chiefly of Steel, Amalgamated, Union Pacific and Erie. Recent foreign buying and the steadily improving position of the European government banks indicate an improvement in conditions abroad, which, it is expected, will be a decided factor in this market, although some doubt is felt as to how extensively Europe will invest in American securities until more confidence is displayed by investors at home.

The bank of England's statement today disclosed a further strengthening of reserves amounting to over 3 per cent in the last week. The sale of $10,000,000 New York Central one-year 5 per cent notes in London was accepted as a further indication of the better feeling abroad toward American securities.

Lower prices prevailed for many of the important bonds. New York Central 3½ lost 2 points. Total sales, par value, $2,720,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

TO SAVE HER CHILD, MOTHER BATTLES WITH FRENZIED DOGS

For nearly fifteen minutes before her screams attracted aid Mrs. W. W. Heckles, in the front yard of her father's home at 141 Flat Shoals avenue, struggled yesterday afternoon in a vain effort to save her little 5-year-old boy from two mad dogs which had suddenly attacked the child.

Before help came one of the animals, a large bull dog, had bitten the lad on the arm and when the neighbors beat the frenzied animals off with sticks, it appeared that the woman and child would be dragged to the ground and killed.

Mrs. Heckles is the daughter of John Faith, a well-known citizen of that section, and it was in his yard that the affair occurred. The animals were the property of her husband, and until the bull dog sprang at his young master, were thought to be normal.

After neighbors beat the dogs off a passing county policeman shot both of them. They were frothing at the mouth and exhibited every symptom of rabies.

The little boy, Wilbur Heckles, will be placed at once under the course of Pasteur treatment, and the animals' heads will be sent to the office in the capitol for examination.

Mrs. Heckles was almost in a state of nervous prostration when she and the child were rescued. Neighbors are showering congratulations upon her for the pluck in the attempts she made to save him.

The animals are supposed to have been bitten by a stray cur affected with rabies, but no hint of this had reached the family until the dogs exhibited signs of frenzy. The dog which was prevented from biting the child is a large, shaggy animal, of shepherd blood, and was as furious in his attack as the bull dog.

CITY OF BAINBRIDGE WILL HAVE AD IN WOMAN'S EDITION

The city of Bainbridge has proven its hearty indorsement of the Woman's edition of The Constitution to be published by the Georgia Federation of Women's organizations, as a medium of advertisement, when the other day at a joint meeting of the federated women in that city, and the mayor and city fathers, the city council took one entire page in the edition to advertise the city at large.

The meeting was called by a joint committee of the citizens and club women, and the subject of the Woman's edition was presented by Mrs. R. B. Parker, business manager of the edition, who has in the last few days visited a number of the leading club centers, and met with enthusiastic response. She has visited Macon, Albany, Pelham and Bainbridge, and will visit other cities in south Georgia before returning to resume her duties in the Atlanta office.

The club women of Athens, who are working for every part of the paper's success, have offered a prize of $5 to the school in that city bringing in the greatest number of subscriptions to the edition, and the young folk are hard at work in the competition.

The Sixth district meeting of the Georgia federation is meeting in Lithonia today, and a large delegation of prominent club women will be present.

ROME PREACHER JAILED ON BLIND TIGER CHARGE

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Mart Hale, who is said to be a local preacher, was surrendered yesterday by his bondsmen to the county officers and placed in jail on the charge of violating the prohibition law. The case has been pending against him for some time, and it is not thought that he will experience any difficulty in making a new bond.

Big Street Carnival.

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—A contract has been signed with the Rome baseball corporation and a big street carnival company for the stay of a week by the letter beginning Monday. They will pitch their shows on West Second avenue. The fund for the maintenance of a club in the Appalachian league is growing slowly, but steadily, and it is thought that when the season opens the finances of the club will be in good shape.

No News of Houlihan.

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—In response to anxious inquiries of many friends here for the safety of George F. Houlihan, a well-known circulation and contest manager, the publisher of The Greensburg, Ind., Review, has written that the newspaper man left with a rescue party two weeks ago and that none of them had returned from the flood district, where they went to assist in saving lives. Greensburg was in the midst of the flood district and the worst is feared. Houlihan was 36 years old and unmarried. He has conducted hundreds of contests throughout the south and is well known in many states.

Mortorcycles for Police.

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—After a visit of inspection to the Atlanta police department and a conference with Chief Beavers, Mayor Yancey and Chief C. I. Harris will recommend to the next meeting of council that the city purchase two motorcycles with which to patrol the outlying city wards. They believe that this would mean the saving of the services of two officers.

Recovers Stolen Mule.

Rome, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—After a week's search for a mule that had been stolen from her stables, Mrs. Thomas Berry yesterday had the animal returned by parties who noticed it tied at the foot of Lavender mountain, a mile away. The mule had been painted with a thick coat of tar, which was evidently applied with a brush. The thief used this original method to avoid identification of the animal until it had served his purpose.

MACON STARTS MOVE FOR LATE CAR SERVICE

Macon, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—Macon wants later street car service at night, and a move is on foot to secure it. The chamber of commerce has started a movement to have the cars operated until 12:20 a. m. instead of 11:20 p. m., as is now done.

It is claimed that the plan of stopping the cars at 11:20 p. m. was adopted several years ago, and the city has now outgrown the custom, many people having changed their habits until they find that the "last car" leaves a little too soon for them.

NABBED FOUR TIMES AS AN AUTO BANDIT

Tallapoosa, Ga., April 10.—(Special.) A young man claiming Atlanta as his home was arrested here four times yesterday, suspected of being one of the men implicated in the Summerville hands of Deputy Sheriff Smith; then hands of Deputy Sheriff Smith; then into the hands of two marshals on different occasions, and last a constable examined him as to his identity. He was able to satisfy all of them that he was straight and had nothing to do with the robbery.

HARRY THAW APPEARS BEFORE GRAND JURY

New York, April 10.—Harry K. Thaw came to New York today to testify before the grand jury investigating the alleged attempt at bribery to get him out of the Matteawan asylum.

Before testifying Thaw declared that hitherto he had given Governor Sulzer's investigators no information regarding Dr. John Russell, former superintendent of Matteawan, and Attorney John N. Anhut, who have been accused of conspiring to bring about Thaw's release. He added that inasmuch as "the gentlemen have given themselves away, it is another kettle of fish, and it is proper for me to give my information."

Justice Zesbury charged the grand jury that there was no legal reason why they should not receive Thaw's testimony, but that in weighing the testimony they should take into consideration the fact that he had been adjudged insane.

London, April 10.—The Duchess of Connaught was operated upon this morning at Clarence house by William Arbuthnot Lane, chief surgeon of Guy's hospital. The operation was a severe one, but was borne well by the duchess.

GIRLS OF LUCY COBB PAY HONOR TO FOUNDER

Athens, Ga., April 10.—(Special.)—The anniversary of the birth of General Thomas R. R. Cobb, founder of Lucy Cobb institute, was celebrated at that institution today by a holiday. The student body visited the grave of the founder and decorated it with flowers.

The college was founded after General Cobb read one day in the old Banner-Watchman, published in this city, an anonymous contribution asking the people of Athens to provide for the education of the girls as they had provided in the first state university ever established for the education of the boys. Impulsively the argument struck home, and he at once canvassed the town, raised $30,000 and had the college assured. He found out afterwards that the writer of the article which inspired his effort was none other than his own sister. The institute was named for a daughter of General Cobb, a sister of Mrs. Hoke Smith.

AD MEN WILL TURN OUT IN FULL FORCE FOR GAME

More than forty ad men and other business men gathered at the weekly noonday luncheon at the Atlanta Ad Men's club in the Piedmont hotel yesterday and listened to an interesting talk on the subject of "Retail Advertising" by I. J. Cassett, advertising manager of M. Rich Bros. & Co.

Mr. Cassett, who is one of the leading members of the Ad Men's club, was given an enthusiastic reception. He outlined briefly exactly what retail advertising is expected to do and the elements that are essential to successful advertising.

Plans for attending the national convention in Baltimore next June were also discussed and, the indications are that a train load of Atlantans will go and give Atlanta a representation that will be invaluable to the city.

President Callaway, of the Atlanta Baseball association, was present at the luncheon and urged the ad men and their friends to help Atlanta win the trophy for the largest attendance on the opening day of the season next Monday. The club guaranteed that its delegation would be one of the largest at Ponce de Leon park next Monday.

SERVIA TO WITHDRAW TROOPS FROM SCUTARI

London, April 11.—Indications of a peaceful Balkan settlement continue favorable. The Belgrade correspondent of The Daily Telegraph asserts that Servia has decided on Russia's advice to withdraw all the Servian troops now investing Scutari.

The international blockade of the coast between Antivari and the Drin river began at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. All ships within the blockade were allowed 48 hours in which to depart.

The Russian government issued a long official communication last night, explaining the efforts of the powers to arrange a settlement of the Balkan problem and justifying Russia's consent to the annexation of Scutari to Albania on the grounds that this is necessary in order to preserve peace and because Scutari is purely an Albanian town, the annexation of which by Montenegro would only prove a source of embarrassment and difficulty, weakening instead of strengthening Montenegro.

In the communication it is charged that King Nicholas broke the engagement into which he entered to secure Russia's consent before resorting to war and adds:

"Nevertheless, the Russian emperor magnanimously assisted Montenegro to attain his legitimate aims, and warned King Nicholas that pursuance of personal aims with respect to Scutari would only condemn his people to useless massacre."

LOCATION

An acre of land, 200x200, three miles from a thriving south Georgia town, produces a bale of cotton, and sells for $50.00. John Smith and his mule are the only ones who pass by it, and the limit of its possibilities having been realized, it is therefore worth about $50.00 and no more.

The same plot of land three miles away in the center of the thriving town will produce no more cotton, but practically the entire population of that community passes by it. Its location gives it value, and its value is rightly gauged by the number of people passing in front of it. It is estimated to be worth $1,000.00 there.

The same size plot of land—only an acre—200x200—would be almost priceless in the heart of the Whitehall street shopping district in Atlanta, because, as Atlanta is the combined gateway and radiating center of the south, so Whitehall is to Atlanta its great throbbing, rushing retail center.

No one man or estate owns the acre at the center, or is able to buy it. It would cost at least $2,000,000 now; but is it too late to buy Whitehall property, even if you go a little further out? The very name Whitehall carries with it the stamp of success in business and guarantees the holder of the real estate an independent income. It is not too late. History repeats itself.
